MRS. HARDING PASSES AWAY

DEATH ENDS LONG GRIEF OF WIDOW

Depressing Memories Hasten Fatal Illness; to Rest At Husband's Side

MRS. HARDING GETS VISION OF WHAT IS BEYOND, CLAIM

COLUMBUS, Nov. 21.—Just before she died, Mrs. Florence K. Harding, widow of former President Harding, seemed to arrive from a state of coma and see a vision of what lies beyond, according to a telegram received here today by Mrs. John G. Battelle, for many years a friend of the Hardings.

"Oh, see! See! See!" were Mrs. Harding's last words, the telegram said.

MARION, O., Nov. 21.—Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late President Harding, died at 8:55 o'clock this morning at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Sawyer, White Oaks farm.

In spite of the fact that her death had been imminent for days, Marion, the city of her birth, which the late president and his wife brought into history, was shocked into numb grief and quiet, respectful bereavement.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at Epworth Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. Harding had been a member of that church since girlhood. Dr. Jesse Swank, pastor of Epworth church, and Dr. George M. Landis, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, will officiate.

Beside Husband's Body

Today Mrs. Harding's body was removed to the home of her niece, Mrs. Frank J. Longshore, on East Church street. Following the services Monday the body will be placed beside that of the late president in the temporary receiving vault at Marion cemetery, until the Harding memorial is completed.

Telegrams to President Coolidge and all other members of the president's cabinet were dis-

Governor Decides on Boxing Board, Report

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Intimates of Governor Richardson today declined to confirm reports that the governor had virtually decided upon his appointments to the state boxing commission as a result of a series of conferences held here yesterday.

Reports circulated here were to the effect that the governor would name either the heads of the two leading athletic organizations of the state and the head of the American Legion organization as commissioners or men designated by them.

In the event that he would follow this plan his appointees would be William R. Humphrey, president of the Olympic club, San Francisco; William M. Garland, president of the Los Angeles Athletic club, and Nathan F. Coombs, commander of the American Legion.

Flag on White House at Half-mast in Honor Of Former First Lady; Cabinet Members To Be Present at Funeral Ceremony

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—News of the death of Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, widow of the late president, while it had been expected here, nevertheless caused a wave of regret throughout the capital today.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge were acquainted with the passing of Mrs. Harding by an International News Service bulletin from Marion, Ohio, shortly after the president reached his desk in the White House.

At President's Coolidge's direction, the flag a-top the White House was half staffed today out of respect to Mrs. Harding. It will remain at half mast until after the funeral.

To Attend Funeral

Captain Adolphus Andrews, the president's naval aide, will be sent to Marion to lend any aid that he may.

Private funeral services, attended only by members of the family were held in a Hollywood cemetery chapel. In the morning the body rested in state for one hour and America's most famous producers, directors and actors, most of them at one time associated with Ince, passed by the flower covered casket.

John Garrigues of Pasadena, theosophist of the United Lodge of Theosophists, delivered the funeral sermon. There were no other services and no pall bearers.

Hundreds of telegrams of condolence from all parts of the world were received by the family of the pioneer producer.

Katz Murder Mystery Solved, Says Detective

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Detective William Cahill of the Los Angeles bureau of criminal investigation returned to Los Angeles today with information which he declared solved the mystery of who killed Harry I. Katz, diamond connoisseur and alleged "love wolf."

Cahill came here to interview Earnest Booth, "ammonia bandit," who escaped from the Alameda county jail and was later arrested here and who is accused of participation in a local bank holdup during the period of his liberty. Booth told local police he had "important information" on the Katz case.

The Los Angeles officer declined to reveal what Booth had told him but after seeing him told local officers he was confident that the mystery of Katz' slayer had been solved. He indicated a nation-wide search for the alleged slayer would at once be launched.

RAIL STOCKS FEATURE OF TRADING

No Evidence of Decline On Market; Steel Continues Popular Investment

NEW CORK, Nov. 21.—Trading in railroad stocks continued in enormous volume on the New York Stock Exchange today. There was no evidence of any decline in bullish enthusiasm in the early trading, though a number of railroad and industrial stocks which have been moving forward briskly declined a point or two as traders took their profits.

The forward price movement in New Haven and St. Paul stocks, among the rails, the advance in United States Steel, the recognized leader in the industrial stocks to the highest price since 1917 and the strength and activity of a small number of the motor stocks, were the features of today's session.

Plan Meets Approval

St. Paul and New Haven have been held back in their market movements by the heavy maturities in outstanding bonds coming due next year, New Haven must pay or refund $23,000,000 of seven per cents on April 1 and St. Paul issue of $4,000,000 of four per cents on June 1. It is expected that New Haven will refund its seven per cents with a new issue of fifteen-year six per cents and the sharp advance of four points in these bonds today is evidence aplenty that the proposal meets with the approval of the financial district. St. Paul will, in the opinion of financial observers here, find equal sympathy and co-operation in any refinancing plan the directors may suggest.

Selling Well Absorbed

Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Katy and a few other railroad shares were brought to market in good volume by those who had profits to collect. The resultant selling caused declines of a point or two in leading stocks, but as in former sessions the selling was well absorbed.

United States Steel continued to attract the attention of investors in every part of the country and buying orders surged into the market in response to the flood of favorable reports concerning its operations, earnings and prospects. At 117¼ the stock was at a new high price since 1917 when it sold at 136½.

Not much interest was displayed in the oil stocks nor in the host of low-priced industrials which have been advancing sharply in recent sessions. Money and industrial conditions were generally favorable to the strong market for speculative stocks.

CARDINALS TO PLAN NEW STRATEGY

Complete Revision of Game To Result Through Loss Of Star Toe Man

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
For International News Service.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Pop Warner, head coach at Stanford, and his board of strategy today faced the problem of a complete revision of their plans for the "big game" Saturday against California at Berkeley.

Discovery that Norman Cleaveland, kicking half back, is ineligible under the three-year Conference rule because of his participation as a substitute back in 1921, will necessitate a considerable shift in Cardinal strategy.

His place will probably be taken in the Stanford lineup by Jim Kelly, 200-pound back, whose work has been of good calibre this year. While not as fast as Cleaveland he is a good backfield man.

Cuddeback to Kick

It is in punting that his absence will be felt. Murray Cuddeback will do the kicking. He has an educated toe when it comes to place kicking but is a bit erratic in punting.

Just how much importance the kicking game will have Saturday cannot be forecast. Some football experts look for Andy Smith to abandon his kicking game which for four years has won him games and fame and surprise Stanford with a brand new attack. Others believe he will stick to it and figure that Stanford will meet that sort of a game with similar style of play.

Not Disheartened

Despite the two heavy blows inside of twenty-four hours—loss of Ernie Nevers with a broken ankle and Cleaveland—Stanford lead-

Who never had learned how to whistle,
'Till she bought some false teeth

'Nuff said, we will end this epistle.

The Limerick Editor of The Glendale Evening News has a whole drawer full of limericks entered in the second contest. But he's a game guy and perfectly willing to welcome hundreds more. Gang! Get together! Line up those limericks and shoot 'em in!

Gobble! Gobble! Gobble!

H. J. WEBSTER of Alburgh, Vt., who is called the champion turkey-raiser of the country, is showing one of the prize birds of the huge lot he will send to holiday dinner tables. Turkey prices throughout the country are lower than last year, a survey shows.

Turkey Prices Lower in West and Southwest Than in East; However, Birds Will Cost Less Than Last Thanksgiving Day

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Folks in the west and southwest have it all over on their brothers in the east and middle west when it comes to buying Thanksgiving turkeys this year. They will be able to get their gobblers for less money, a nation-wide survey today by International News Service shows.

Retail prices for the festive fowl are generally lower in the border states of the southwest and in the Pacific coast region, with Texas averaging up best—from the viewpoint of the ultimate consumer.

In the Lone Star state dressed turkeys are retailing in the immediate neighborhood of 30 cents per sixteen ounce pound.

Portland, Ore., and Seattle are the next best bets, with prices averaging 35 cents per pound.

California city retail prices are generally around the 42 cents mark.

Eastern Prices Higher

As one looks to the east prices go up. The further east one goes the higher the turkey rate seems to go. For instance:

In Denver a Thanksgiving bird costs between 40 and 45 cents per pound, which is about the price in Kansas City, Mo.

Coming to the Mississippi river at St. Louis turkey values average better than 45 cents the pound. Thence proceeding to Springfield, Ill., the rate becomes 50 cents.

Between Illinois and New York the 50 cents figure seems to hold little variation.

All in all, however, in every section of the country turkey price are lower than they were last year.

Mexican Gives Theatre Crowd Thrill In Escape

RENO, Nev., Nov. 21.—After theatre crowds were given an unexpected thrill last night as Rafael Romero, Mexican, made a dash for liberty from the city jail pursued by a hail of bullets from the guns of officers chasing him. Romero's head was gashed and the shoe heel of a bystander licked by the bullets but no one was injured. Romero was being booked for burglary when he made his escape. He crashed head first through the glass of the jail door and fled down the street. The front steps of the jail were covered with blood from wounds sustained when he went through the window.

Mutiny Breaks Out In Russ Kronstadt Navy

LONDON, Nov. 21.—Mutiny has broken out in the Russian navy at Kronstadt, the principal fortress and military port of Russia, according to an unconfirmed report from the city. The heavily fortified port lies twenty miles west of Leningrad. It is connected with the metropolis by a channel through which deep sea ships pass to the Leningrad wharves.

CHEST DRIVE EXTENSION DECIDED

Workers Get More Time In Which to Reach Total Budget of $50,000

The Community Chest drive, which was to have terminated tomorrow, has been extended until Wednesday night, November 26, it is announced by W. E. Hewitt, president of the organization. This decision of the officers and directors is explained by Mr. Hewitt in the following statement:

"Only 2000 of Glendale's 57,000 population have thus far subscribed to the Community Chest. The amount raised totals $20,000, or 40 per cent of the $50,000 budget set as the goal. In view of this situation, it is felt necessary to extend the drive into next week.

Special Appeal

"The Community Chest program should appeal especially to Glendale parents, since so many of the fifteen participating organizations have as their principal purpose the welfare of the children and young people of the community.

"This part of the program is not in any sense charity, but merely the effort of the whole city to support those auxiliary agencies to the churches and and schools, which supplement their functions. This is especially true of the following organizations: American Junior Red Cross, Community Service, Cali-

Sir Lee died in Cairo late last night after blood transfusions had been unsuccessful in combating the effect of three bullet wounds suffered in an attack Wednesday, according to Cairo cablegrams.

The Sudan Herald, shortly before Sir Lee's death, strongly urged the British authorities in Egypt to take drastic action as a sign that the people of the Sudan can rely on the support and protection of Great Britain.

Critical Situation

The Herald said it regarded Stack assassination as the reply of Egyptian extremists to the activity of the Sudan government in quelling the recent disturbances there.

Sir Lee's death has resulted in a delicate situation in London. The cabinet had an emergency meeting last night and dispatched a severe note to Egypt demanding full punishment of the culprits.

Measures of prevention against recurrence of such an attack were drawn by the cabinet.

TREE PLANTING CEREMONY TAKES PLACE AT HOSPITAL

Chaplain R. W. Munson Makes Principal Speech and Reads Poem in Honor of Planting Shrubbery About Glendale Sanitarium

Sanitarium officials, nurses and other attendants, and a large host of friends of the institution, gathered at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital yesterday afternoon to join in tree planting ceremonies.

A total of 39 trees and shrubs, gifts of organizations and individuals, was planted. The list of trees donated and the donors included: Elder E. G. Daniels, Monterey pine; C. N. Garden of Eden

Chaplain R. M. Munson, in the main address of the day, took for his subject "Trees." He spoke of the Garden of Eden, which, he said, of necessity had to be filled with beautiful trees if it was to truly be a garden of paradise or Eden. He recounted how the Lord planted in the garden two trees, the "tree of life" and the "tree of knowledge of good and evil," or death. Rev. Munson said it was not because the fruit of the tree of knowledge of good and evil was bad or poisonous, but because within this tree dwelt the evil spirit, that Adam and Eve were punished for eating thereof.

The speaker recounted how Biblical stories tell how Christ, the Son of God, had to come to earth to die on the 'tree of Calvary," the cross, for the sin in the Garden. He termed Christ "the Tree of Life, both physical and spiritual." Rev. Munson alluded to the sanitarium and the work being done there, animated by Christ's spirit, as the Tree of Life. He also told of many rare and curious trees he had seen in the Orient, while doing missionary work there. He told of one great banyan tree at Calcutta, India, large enough to shelter a whole regiment of British soldiers.

Tree Planting

Dr. A. W. Truman, medical superintendent, was master of ceremonies. He spoke briefly on the tree planting ceremonies at the outset of the program. His remarks were followed by a song, "Tree Planting," sung by the audience to the tune of "America." Mrs. Daisy D. Harris, superintendent of nurses, gave a reading, "America for Me." Another reading, "Trees," was given by Marguerite Brown. The history of trees already planted on the sanitarium grounds was given by George Smith, sanitarium gardener. This was followed by a dedication of the trees by Chaplain Munson and his address of the day, after the new trees had been planted. A song, "Joy for the Sturdy Trees," sung by the audience, and the benediction by J. A. Burden, sanitarium manager, concluded the program.

Each person or organization donating a tree was presented with a free membership in the American Tree association by Mrs. Harris, who was in charge of the program.

Poem to Trees

A poem composed by Chaplain Munson especially in honor of the occasion and read by him at the conclusion of his address follows:

THE TREE OF LIFE

God prepared a home in Eden
For the parents of our race;
In that paradise supernal
They beheld Him face to face.

Sylvan bowers and shades inviting
Beckoned them to peaceful rest;
Naught was there to hurt or harm them,
All was good and all were blest.

But their safety in that Garden—
In that peaceful, happy land
All depended on their knowing
And obeying His command.

For Jehovah in His wisdom,
Placed within that garden fair,
Tree of life and tree of knowledge—
Both essential to them there.

As a test of their devotion
To the law of God so good
One tree was to them forbidden,
Though it seemed so good for food.

They must choose which tree they wanted—
Tree of death or tree of life;
Both they could not have forever.—
Thus spake God to Adam's wife.

Jesus saw us up in heaven,
Saw our sorry plight that day;
Then He offered to redeeem us,
From God's wrath to turn away.

Driven forth from Eden's garden—
O how sad that fateful day!
Christ came down to earth and suffered,—
Bore the sins of man away.

So that all who want salvation,
Through the blood of Calvary tree,
May in Him obtain deliverance,—
Find redemption full and free.

Thus we see that there is given
To the obedient, glad and free,
Life eternal, without money—
Access now to Life's fair tree.

In our efforts for the sick ones
In the home upon the hill,
Let us not forget the Saviour
Or reject His Holy will.

Here the tree of life is blooming,—
Life in Christ for all of man.
Let none e'er despair of healing,
But by faith declare they can.

Let these trees we now are planting
'E'er remind us of His grace;
Bye and bye we then shall meet Him
And behold Him face to face.
AMEN.

BETTER BUSINESS SEEN ALL PLACES

North, East And South Point To Big Sales Bound To Help West

By MARKET OBSERVER
For Southland News Service.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—From north, east and south come reports of better business. It is bound to have its effect on the west. One of the large movements impending which will materially effect the prosperity of the southland with its cotton fields in Imperial, Kern and Riverside counties, as well as in Lower California and Arizona, well stated by A. M. Clement when he said:

"What I am looking for is for the fire in stocks and grain to spread to cotton. I feel sure it will. Whether there is a 12,800,000 or 13,000,000 bale crop makes little difference."

Now there are certain factors on which Mr. Clement makes his optimistic statement. Glancing through E. F. Hutton & Co.'s wire report you will find this:

"Textile conditions throughout Georgia continue to show improvement, according to the president of the Cotton Manufacturers' association of Georgia."

Country-wide Reports

"Finished goods in the New York market are reported to be selling freely and ginghams are wanted in larger quantities at lower prices than leading mills can accept and give deliveries sought."

"The treasurer of a fine goods plant in Fall River is quoted in the Journal of Commerce as saying that his plant had contracted for its entire production for the next six months."

The Liverpool market is steady, advances in woolens will make a heavier demand for cotton, Connecticut industries manufacturing textiles are taking on increased activity, which suggests a prosperous winter, Secretary Herbert Hoover of the Department of Commerce reports business conditions in the west are picking up.

Why even the ticker in the New stock exchange yesterday got a half hour behind in reporting sales, which shows the furious pace with which business is responding to prosperity.

Southern California is going to feel not only prosperity but an advance in prices.

NIGHT RALLY STAGED BY STUDENTS

Rousing Send-Off Is Given Glendale Eleven for Grid Tilt Today

While a monstrous bonfire illuminated the heavens and was visible for miles, more than 2,000 high school students rent the air last night with cheers and yells. The occasion was the first outdoor night rally ever staged by the school, and was held for the purpose of arousing pep for the Glendale-Van Nuys heavyweight game this afternoon at Broadway field.

The large bleachers at the field were filled, scores of people crowded around the new fence, and hundreds of automobiles were parked around the outer rim of the bleachers at the edge of the football field.

After a series of speeches, yells and songs, the girls marched out on the field where a large "G" was formed. When all lights were extinguished, the girls held aloft brilliant sparklers, making a vivid picture.

Mayor Takes Hand

Addresses were made by George U. Moyse, principal of the High school; Mayor Spencer Robinson, Councilman C. E. Kimlin, Coach Wolfe, mentor of the fleaweight team; Coach Butterfield, of the lightweight squad; Coach Hayhurst of the heavyweight aggregation; Dick Ryan, captain of the heavyweights; R. Reed, captains of the lightweights, and Killinger, captain of the fleaweights.

The members of the three who won three pennants in the Central league, were introduced and cheered as they made their little bow and then hastened home, on orders of their respective coaches.

When the torch was applied to the heap of boxes, the students did a "serpentine" around the football band. Many parents of students were present for the rally.

High School Rooters Attract Police With Bleachers' Bonfire

Observing a flare in the northeast sky at 8 o'clock last night, but having received no call, the Glendale fire department asked the police department to investigate. Sergeant C. P. Blake and Motor Officer T. O. Lamb investigated, and found a big bonfire blazing merrily in front of the Broadway High school bleachers, and hundreds of G. U. H. S. pupils gathered about it, invoking good fortune in the forthcoming playoff for the state football championship.

Glendale Police Chief Talks Before P.-T. A.

Importance of proper home training was stressed yesterday by John D. Fraser, Glendale chief of police, in his talk before the Columbus Parent-Teacher association. He compared today with his childhood days, emphasizing the need of strict home discipline. He also outlined plans for the lane-ing of Glendale streets for the protection of Glendale school children. Proper use of the street crossings will depend much on the influence of parents, he said.

Other speakers at the meeting were Richardson D. White, superintendent of schools; Mrs. O. E. Spradling, president of Glendale federation, Parent-Teacher associations; Mrs. Nanno Woods, who is to present "The Court of St. Valentine" as a benefit for the P.-T. A. Vocal solos were given by J. Arthur Myers, who sang "Tommy Lad" and "Bamboo Baby," accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Erb. Mrs. C. H. Bird, president, presided over the meeting, attended by 120 school patrons. There will be no meeting of the association in December.

Railroad Man of Iowa Enjoys Visit In City

Praise of Glendale as a home city and wonderment at its growth and progress were voiced by C. M. While in Glendale they were guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Pierce, 205 East Maple street.

ROTARY-ANNS ARE GUESTS AT DINNER

Event at Tuesday Afternoon Club Is Followed by Theatre Party

Rotary-Anns were the guests of the Glendale Rotary club last night at a dinner served in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, which was enjoyed by seventy-five members and wives, who later were guests of William A. Howe at the Glendale theatre.

To Paul Stillman, President J. Herbert Smith delegated the task of welcoming the women, and in chosen words, interspersed with quotations, he attended to the detail, only to be exceeded, perhaps, by the response of Mrs. Jennie Phillips, wife of Rotarian J. E. Phillips, who told how she had learned to respect the business men of Glendale for their fair dealing in the twelve years she and her husband had been in business here.

President Smith called attention to the Chamber of Commerce forum dinner next Monday night. Secretary Rene Olin read a communication from the district governor stating that Glendale has greatly aided in keeping the district in first place for attendance in International Rotary, and the secretary also expressed hope that the local club would score four 100 per cent meetings in November, giving Glendale first place instead of second in the International score.

Mrs. Daniel Campbell was present to talk for the Community Chest, and she urged those who had not been solicited to mail their pledges to 246 South Brand boulevard. In the course of her remarks she impressed the Rotarians with the benefits from living in Glendale.

"Talk about paying taxes," she exclaimed. "I don't care how high they get. It is worth the price to live here."

R. Ernest Tucker led in singing and President Smith catechised members regarding recent activities to the humor of the throng and the benefit of the good cheer fund. Next week's luncheon will be held Wednesday noon, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, instead of Thursday, Thanksgiving day. Yesterday's regular meeting was held in connection with the Community Chest campaign luncheon.

Glendale Sanitarium Reaches High Water Mark In Patronage

The high water mark to date has been reached at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital with a total of 110 patients enrolled at the sanitarium, with the hospital department filled to overflowing. This is the largest number to appear on the sanitarium books since the opening of the new building, according to Elder R. W. Munson. The patronage has steadily increased since the opening of the new structure, he said, and every promise for the future is given.

Complete refurnishing of the lobby of the sanitarium, which has been in progress for the past ten days, is nearly completed. The new furnishings are the gift of Dr. Henry R. Harrower.

Vocalist to Appear In Recital Tonight

Maude Fenlon Bollman, soprano, who has delighted Glendale music lovers many times, is to present her song cycle of life tonight at the Glendale Presbyterian church. She will be assisted by Ivy Mae Travis, pianist. Last year Mrs. Bollman presented her cycle before the Tuesday Afternoon club. In announcing her program she gives the title "A Song of Life, From the Heart o' Me to the Heart o' you." Her program includes songs telling of dawn, nature, mysticism, joy, strife, love, home, childhood, "Lest We Forget," victory. She uses mainly American compositions. The program is being given under the auspices of the women's society of the church. A silver offering will be received.

GUILD AFFAIR PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Women's Club of St. Mark's Holds Bazaar Set In Holiday Splendor

Brilliant holiday setting was offered by the Guild hall at St. Mark's Episcopal church, South Louise and East Harvard streets, for the annual bazaar of the Women's guild, beginning yesterday and continuing until tonight. Mrs. B. O. Holbrook, general chairman of the affair, expressed today gratification in success of the bazaar. She said that tonight will mark the close of one of the finest benefits in guild history.

Artistic in their decorations, and filled with much desired articles, booths, representing the months of the calendar year, vied with each other in popularity. Rich in color, decorated in favors representative of the various months, and filled with attractive gifts, tasty cooked foods and other features, the booths combined in a gay carnival scene.

Prize Winning Booths

There were two prizes presented yesterday to the most artistic and popular booths. First prize went to the March booth, beautifully decorated in pink, where candy is sold by the Young People's Fellowship under the leadership of Mrs. Philip K. Kemp. Second prize was won by the April booth, done in soft shades of gray, where quilts and rugs are sold by Mesdames Francis Murphy and Murray Graham.

Mrs. H. F. Speck presides over the January booth, where white decorations suggest the North Pole. Clever in its appointments and filled with countless attractions is the February booth, conducted by Mrs. Ray Ralston of the Little Church Around the Corner, Hollywood. Lavender predominates in the decorative scheme, surrounding a wide variety of articles.

ADD SPEAKER AT DINNER PROGRAM

Rev. Walter Thornton Chosen To Address Open Forum Meeting Monday

"Greater Southern California—Straight Ahead," the address which won fame as a speaker when he gave it before hundreds of realty men from all parts of the state at the inauguration of Everett A. White, new state president of the California Real Estate association, will be the topic of Rev. Walter Thornton, Fullerton pastor, when he speaks at the monthly forum dinner of the chamber of commerce Monday night.

Community Chest workers who heard Rev. Thornton in his stirring address at the chest luncheon Wednesday of this week, and members of the realty board whom he addressed that same day, will be among the first to crowd the banquet hall of the Tuesday Afternoon club Monday night, if comments made following his address and enthusiastic applause can be taken into consideration. At both meetings Rev. Thornton's words were received with great acclaim and it was for this reason that he was prevailed upon to speak once more at the forum dinner when a larger number will have opportunity to hear him.

On the same program will be A. G. Arnoll, manager of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and formerly industrial manager of that body. Mr. Arnoll will speak on the industrial advantages and possibilities of Glendale.

The dinner will commence promptly at 6:15 o'clock and the program will be over not later than 9 o'clock, James W. Pearson, chairman of the committee in charge, promises. The dinner this month is under the auspices of the Glendale realty board and a number of surprises are promised.

Glendale Smiles at Census Bogey Trick Played In Pasadena

Glendale may smile benignly at the unfortunate Southern California cities which suffered at the hands of a census report made public yesterday. Pasadena was given 55,110 by the Washington bureau and already City Manager C. W. Koiner has wired that 80,000 would be a better figure.

But Long Beach, which boasts 125,000, has the biggest "kick," for, although that city was credited with an increase of 27,513, its total is only 83,106. San Diego and Fresno estimates are accredited with being nearer correct.

However, Glendale had better watch out for the "census bogey."

Operators of Beauty Parlors See Review

Through an invitation received by Nina Majel, manager of the beauty parlor in Pendroy's several Glendale beauty parlor operators attended a 1924 review and entertainment given Wednesday night at the Gamut auditorium, 1044 South Hope street, Los Angeles.

The hair fashion review by different models was most spectacular and showed what milady will wear this season. After the two-hour review refreshments were served, with dancing until midnight. Nearly 1000 were in attendance from Southern California cities.

CLUB COUNCIL DECLARED SUCCESS

Registration Records Show 560 Women Present for Events of Day

Tuesday Afternoon club officers and members are happy in the satisfaction of the success yesterday of the third presidents' council of the Los Angeles District, California Federation of Women's Clubs, held in their clubhouse. Registration report made at the close of the afternoon session by Mrs. H. S. McCormack, corresponding secretary, showed that 560 club women were registered, representing 112 of the 195 clubs belonging to the district.

It was declared to be one of the largest and most successful councils held under Mrs. Toll's regime.

At the noon luncheon, prepared and served by Tuesday Afternoon club women under the direction of Mrs. Homer D. Lockwood, chairman of ways and means, 350 women were served. Mrs. Toll presided. Greetings from the hostess club were voiced by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery. Mrs. A. L. Brown, president of the Ventura county federation, brought greetings from Ventura clubs.

Student Speaks

In recognition of National Education week, Mrs. Toll introduced Miss Carrie Noble, principal of the Wilson Intermediate school. Miss Noble then presented Betty Sinclair, 13-year-old member of the eighth grade, who spoke last week before the Tuesday Afternoon club. In well chosen words she gave a clearly thought out message to club women, concluding with an ardent denouncement of school girls who use cosmetics.

During the later part of the luncheon hour there was informal discussion of recognition of Children Book week and National Book week by the various clubs.

At the afternon session there was a silent tribute to the memory of Emma Livingstone Read, prominent club leader and writer,

ADVERTISING GLENDALE

Every wide-awake business man includes in his budget for the year a certain sum for advertising. The business man knows this is necessary, and that, if wisely spent, will return to him many fold. Other agencies that depend upon publicity for their growth to a greater or less extent, also have come to realize the value and power of advertising. Churches take this method of reaching the people, and of late years it has come to be the common thing for every city of any consequence to spend money for advertising.

There are so many ways of advertising. The old village general storekeeper who didn't believe in advertising filled his window with as many different kinds of merchandise as it would hold in order that the people might know just what lines he carried. He was oblivious to the fact that this was a form of advertising.

So with cities, there is more than one way of making their desirability known. A city like Glendale can well afford to spend money for advertising. It is both dignified and judicious to tell strangers, by means of the printed word, why Glendale is the best city in the world. But we need not sit back and wait for the results from such a campaign. Every citizen can and should be an animated advertisement, and, to a very large extent, the people of Glendale have acted in that very capacity in the past.

There are any number of instances in Glendale where one family has been the means of bringing here from one to a dozen other families. For instance, a family came to Glendale, leaving married sons in the east. They were not content until the sons found positions and brought their families here. Then the daughters-in-law were the means of bringing their own parents and brothers and sisters, and so an endless chain was formed that is still bringing friends and relatives to the remotest connections from the frozen east to the sunny south.

This kind of work has been going on for a number of years. It is not a spectacular method of community building, but it is a powerful and economical one. There is no reason why Glendale should not continue to grow steadily by means of this personal work system of advertising. This plan has resulted in bringing to Glendale what might be termed a consistent class of citizens. We know all about the conditions here, and we know the tastes and circumstances of our friends and relatives. We do not urge those to come who could not better themselves and be happier here. This has resulted in bringing to Glendale those who "fit in," who "belong" here, and who are thus abundantly satisfied and happy among us. General and promiscuous advertising cannot be so discriminative, and so the results are not always so satisfactory.

There is another way in which we might advertise Glendale a little more efficaciously. Many thousands of tourists visit us yearly. We might make a greater and more concentrated effort to be more courteous to these people, to be more sociable with them, to seek them out and entertain them, for such things count more with those in a strange place than do the physical aspects and advantages of a city.

The people of Glendale are good advertisers. They possess what we might call the Glendale spirit. It is their great desire to have their friends and relatives in the east share the good fortune that was theirs when they made their homes in Glendale. The Glendale Evening News has had striking evidence of this in the past few weeks. Glendale people have sent to their friends and relatives in other cities and states, more than 7000 copies of the Development edition of The Glendale Evening News, which contained a summary of every phase of life and activity in Glendale, and was compiled for the purpose of giving the stranger a good and true picture of Glendale, such as could not be given in letters. Glendale people believe in advertising their city, which is one reason Glendale is the fastest growing city in the United States.

BE THOROUGH AND ACCURATE

A business man who has occasion to employ young people said the other day, apropos of National Education week, that he has great sympathy and respect for the opinions of our educators, but he feels that our educational methods are weak in that they do not teach the desirability and importance of doing work well. He finds boys and girls of high school age and training singularly inefficient and incapable of carrying a job through to completion and doing it well. They may know how a thing should be done, but they cannot see the necessity of completing it or doing it accurately. It seems, he says, as if accuracy is an unknown term among the younger generation. If they carry through any task, the idea is to get it done quickly. Neatness and accuracy do not enter into the matter at all.

High school students should not be expected to be efficient business men and women, but, if they could only get thoroughness and accuracy grounded in them as the fundamentals of all education and all work, other things could easily be added. But, where they do not have this foundation, it is difficult for them to make much progress in anything.

Accuracy and thoroughness are qualities older people also might find it profitable to attain.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, chairman of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Welfare of the Methodist Episcopal church, says the prohibition law is being flagrantly violated, and this with the knowledge and connivance of those whose duty it is to enforce the law. He declares the liquor interests have "packed" the prohibition enforcement staffs with men whom they can use to their own purpose.

Dr. Wilson does not hesitate to make this charge, yet he comes from an hour's conference with President Coolidge convinced that the federal enforcement machinery will function as it should. He says, "The United States as a whole will be as dry as Kansas was in the days when the rest of the nation was dripping wet."

Dr. Wilson is in a position to know the status of prohibition enforcement, and it is encouraging that he feels sure that the Volstead law can and will be enforced. The people are looking for a speedy reorganization of the prohibition forces.

ANOTHER FALLEN ANGEL

The Naked Man

By DR. FRANK CRANE

The Scotch have a proverb, "The naked man goes far."

The meaning of this is that the less you are encumbered, the more easily you can move.

People are sometimes at great pains to accumulate a lot of junk and are very proud of their possessions. But after a while they find that what they own does little more than gratify their vanity and fix them in one place. They cannot move for fear of breaking something.

Experienced travelers say that the less baggage one has the easier it is to travel. Many an excursion has been foregone because it has been necessary to take along a lot of things and it was too much trouble.

The Latins used to call baggage by a very illustrative name. They called it "impedimenta." Of course a certain amount of reserves and supplies are necessary for an army, but they are properly called "impedimenta," for they impede the course of the troops.

One of the advantages of being poor is that you do not have to stumble over a lot of things that belong to you.

A newspaperman once went from Chicago to Boston and back on a necessary trip. He took along no baggage, not even a change of linen. When his collar or shirt got dirty he threw it away and bought another one. He said in the long run it was cheaper than having washing done.

Horoscope

This is a day in which many planetary influences conflict according to astrology. Venus is in benefic aspect, but Mars, Uranus, Saturn and Jupiter are all strongly adverse.

It is a time to clean up odds and ends and to avoid all that has any hazardous contingency.

While women should be stimulated to much activity they must curb their ambitions as well as their emotions under this direction of the stars.

The seers find that, owing to the complex aspects, many personalities apparently will be at war within one individual and for this reason the utmost self control is enjoined.

Astrologers foresee great access of mental and physical strength for women with a corresponding diminishing of these forces among men.

Gradually men will partake of the gentler qualities, it is prophesied and great numbers of them will become futile dreamers and drifters, astrologers prophesy.

Whatever has a tendency to make men self reliant and brave spiritually as well as physically should be encouraged at this time if there is anything in the message of the stars.

Speculation of every sort may be exceedingly precarious at this time and should be avoided, even though it may appear as especially sure to bring profit.

The evening of this day is more auspicious for most human interests than the earlier hours.

During this rule there is likely to be a tendency to see the worst aspects of human life and it is well to avoid all thought of criticism or harsh judgment.

Minor duties should engage attention, but women should be most wise in preventing the men of their families from sharing small interests.

Under this planetary direction nervousness and irritability may be prevalent. Divorces will be numerous, largely because of the unsettled state of mind caused by hyper-sensitiveness.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of plenty of small obstacles to overcome in a year that should be very successful. Children born on this day may have eventful careers. These subjects of Scorpio are rash, impulsive and fond of travel or adventure.

Who's Who

The recent appointment of Comte Charles de Chambrun as minister to Greece from France is of more than passing interest to Americans because of his service on numerous occasions to France's relations with the United States.

In fact, M. de Chambrun is an American by birth, having been born in Washington while his father, the Marquis de Chambrun, was counsellor to the French embassy there. On his mother's side—she was Mlle. de Courcelles—he is a direct descendent of Lafayette.

M. de Chambrun's diplomatic career started at Washington where he was sent as third and later as second secretary to the French embassy. He was promoted to the grade of counsellor and was charge d'affaires during the peace conference, and became minister and charge d'affaires during M. Jusserand's long leave of absence in 1922. He also was a member of the French mission sent to inaugurate the Rochambeau statue at Washington in 1902, and in 1912 went, with M. Hanotaux and M. Barthou, to represent France at the tercentennial of Lake Champlain.

His last visit to the United States was in 1921 as a member of Marshal Foch's party that was accorded such a tremendous welcome from the Atlantic to the Pacific and back. M. de Chambrun's promotion to the Athens legation is hailed by all his friends as only another step to higher recognition by his government. He has been under secretary of foreign affairs and in charge of press relations at the Quai d'Orsay.

For Rent—A 3-room bungalow apartment, Fifth and Louise streets, new, and very modern, only $15 per month.

A peculiar burglary occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Tarr, 861 Glendale avenue, Tuesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Tarr retired at about 11 o'clock. As was their custom they hid the money they had in the house. The amount was $17 and this was concealed in three different places. A revolver was placed in a drawer near Mr. Tarr's bed. They heard no disturbance during the night, but this morning they awoke to find the money and revolver gone.

PAPIER-MACHE WARFARE

(Baltimore Evening Sun)

Few things have provided so much interest as what might be termed the Occidentalizing of China. Here was a Celestial kingdom representing thousands of years of civilization and culture suddenly invaded by the barbarians of the West, who, with the impudence of barbarians, informed the inhabitants that they were heathen, that their culture was ingrown, and that, in spite of having a start of hundreds of centuries, they were at the moment far behind the times.

The barbaric argument might have borne less weight with the Celestials had it not been accompanied by a salvo of cannon. That could not fail to be convincing, and so the wiser heads were constrained to assume the attitudes and postures of the West. Not the least important of these was the adoption of the western methods of warfare. In the course of years the wearing of masks and beating of gongs to terrify the enemy into submission was supplanted by the somewhat less imaginative practice of employing rifles and bullets and the other paraphernalia and impedimenta characteristic of the West.

Now comes the news that, in spite of outward appearances, China has contrived to keep its wars a source of innocent merriment. Investigation reveals that a good bit of the ammunition employed has consisted of nothing more dangerous than paper bullets and red powder that makes noise, but otherwise is harmless. Thus while appearing to keep in step with the highly civilized methods of western warfare, the Chinese have succeeded in retaining the very best feature of their former system—namely, its harmlessness.

As one conservative to another, we congratulate them.

HIS CAREER

Explorer Blevins, who had visited the wilds of Central Africa and the ice floes of Greenland, had announced he would soon leave on a trip to the South Pole. Two of his friends were talking it over.

"I suppose," remarked one, "that he got a taste for adventure in the Army."

"Not necessarily," retorted the other. "He once drove a taxi in Chicago."

NO TRESPASSING

The wife and daughter of Colonel Berry, camp commander, came to the gate after taps and demanded admission. The sentry objected.

"But, my dear man, you don't understand," expostulated the older woman. "We are the Berrys."

"I don't care if you're the cat's whiskers," retorted the sentry. "You can't get in at this hour."

COST OF DISOBEDIENCE

"So you lost all your money on a prizefight," the aged man remarked reprovingly to an urchin. "My, my! Didn't your father train you better than that?"

"He sure did, an' I went against his wishes. I wouldn't blame him for lickin' me. The old man told me to put every cent on Dirty Dugan, but I was bull-headed an' thought I knowed it all."

AN IMPOSSIBILITY

The politician smiled his friendliest upon his audience.

"All of us politicians aren't grafters," he declared.

"No, admitted an unidentified auditor. "Only part of you get elected."

GETTING A HEAD

Clerk: "May I have a raise, sir? I've been trying to get ahead on my present salary, and find that I can't."

The Boss: "Well, try again, and as soon as you get one, let me know and I'll fire you."

ACADEMIC INTEREST

Willie—"Pop, have you got a nickel?"

Father—"I guess so—why?"

"Well, it's just sort of comfortin' to know it's in the family."

ESSENTIAL

Publisher: "But what makes you think you can write popular songs?"

Embryo Lyrist: "Oh, you don't know what silly ideas I have!"

Today's Poem

BEFORE AND AFTER SUMMER

Looking forward to the spring
One puts up with anything.
On this February day,
Though the winds leap down the street,
Wintry scourgings seem but play,
And these later shafts of sleet—
Sharper pointed than the first—
And these later snows—the worst
—Are as a half transparent blind
Riddled by rays from sun behind.

Shadows of the October pine
Reach into this room of mine;
On the pine there swings a bird;
He is shadowed with the tree,
Mutely perched he bills no word;
Blank as I am even is he.
For those happy suns are past,
Fore-discerned in winter last.
When went by their pleasure, then?
I, alas, perceived not when.

—THOMAS HARDY

MOVIELAND GIVES NEWS OF STUDIOS

Colleen Loses 'Whiskers', Ince Mourned, Big Films On Way

By MARIAN MARSHALL
For Southland News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 21.—Seriously speaking, Colleen Moore has lost her "Whiskers"—a four months' old Irish terrier, fairly bristling with red hair and wearing a green leather collar. A reward is offered the finder.

It is fitting that E. M. Asher should present "Ashes," the great New York stage success. He completed negotiations by telegraph yesterday for the vehicle which will be produced with Corinne Griffith starred.

However, that one picture is nothing at all considering the $10,000,000 program now under way at United Studios. In addition to Corinne Griffith, Marion Davies, the Talmadge sisters, Rudolph Valentino, Antonio Moreno, Leon Errol and a host of other stars will be tramping the stages of the great film factory during the next six months.

New Heating Plant

Yes, and M. C. Levee, president of United Studios has been pried loose from $50,000 for a new heating plant to keep that galaxy of stars warm this winter, according to his press agents.

Rumors have it that Lasky's studio will be moved to Culver City. In the meantime Paramount's famous forty films are being completed and forty more being made ready for production at the Famous Players plant.

James Cruze, directing "The Goose Hangs High," had a couple of Christmas trees lugged into the lot this week from his La Canada home place, to make a Yuletide scene. It has made the actors and actresses begin to think about the days when they believed in Santa Claus.

In Memory of Ince

As the film colony bows its head in sorrow at the bier of Tom Ince it realizes that fortune has smiled kindly on those who did their best for the industry. Ince brought to the front such stars as William Hart, Charles Ray and others whom the writer used to know at Santa Monica as they sallied forth to Inceville in an old motortruck each morning.

Thomas Ince is dead, but his memory clings to the early days of filmdom in Edendale and Santa Monica and Culver City. He amassed a fortune by wisely investing his money in real estate; he guided his proteges in like investments and if there ever was a Santa Claus in reel life, Tom Ince was one.

PHYSICAL HEALTH IS GREAT FACTOR

Director Of Training At City's Schools Tells Reasons Why

By H. EDWARD BREMER
Physical Training Director, Glendale Schools

Physical education and health development are rapidly becoming an integral part of our general educational program. Today has been set aside as physical education day of National Education Week. Everywhere, today, throughout the United States special emphasis is being stressed upon the importance of physical education and health development. However, the important factor is to bring the issue before the public, show them the needs of health and physical development and to get them interested in its promotion.

The National Recreation committee, appointed by President Coolidge, has adopted the following slogans:

1. "Playgrounds and athletic fields means a strong, healthy nation."
2. "A playground for every child."
3. "Adequate parks for city, state and nation."
4. "Safety education saves life."
5. "Encourage sane athletics for all."
6. "Physical education is a character builder."

War Pointed Defects

We as a nation came to realize the importance of physical and health development during the recent world war, when so many of our young men were rejected for military service. The writer believes in starting a constructive program in physical and health development at the very outset of the child's entrance into the public schools. This should be carried on systematically throughout the entire school life of the child. If every child is given a fair start in life as far as his physical being is concerned he will have at least an even chance to combat the world for his existence. The little things a child is taught in the school will generaly remain with him throughout his life.

It is important therefore that the proper habits be formed and that the child learn the importance of the proper care of his body. It is also important that the parents and other adults use their influence in bettering the habits and attitude of the child so that the school may become an effective agency for the promotion of the health education in the family and the community as well as in the school itself. Real progress is being made along these lines. The death rate in the United States is rapidly declining, while physicians and surgeons are playing an important part in this measure, yet the school is where the child gets his incentive to take care of his health and to prepare his physical being for future life.

Another important factor in our modern life is, "What shall we do with our leisure time?" The youth has a certain amount of surplus physical energy which must have an outlet. This can be taken care of by the city maintaining public playgrounds and community centers.

Today in each of the Glendale city schools there is being held a "Health Parade." The purpose of this parade is to stimulate physical and health development within each of the respective schools. The various parades portray the athletic activities which the boys and girls are engaged in throughout the year. Banners and placards representing various health activities displaying such phases of health education as good posture, personal care of the body, etc. It is important that the child not only keep himself in perfect physical condition, but that he use his influence with his companions.

Let us all co-operate in promoting the increased development of physical education and health.

Athletic Sports Valuable In Child's Development

Athletic sports and games are valuable because they develop the muscles, give tone to the nerves, and strengthen the vital organs of the body. In short, it is through these two agencies that physical, mental, and moral vitality are increased and conserved.

Sports and games develop physical qualities such as strength, effort, endurance, judgment, skill, expression and agility. It is during these forms of physical training that boys experiment with such mental powers as memory, recognition, imagination, concentration, co-ordination, attention, reason, surprise and fear. Moral traits which are strengthened through these methods of physical training are fairness, self-possession, self-control and courage.

Athletics, such as running, jumping, climbing, wrestling, and swimming, which are basic in principle, have been in vogue almost since the beginning of history. Every boy should be able to run swiftly, to jump far, to dodge and strike with precision, and to wrestle intelligently. He should also be proficient in rope-climbing and swimming in order to protect or save his or another's life when in danger from fire or water.

The playing of games is probably the best form of physical education, as it is the most enjoyed and its good results are second to none. In fact, any form of physical endeavor may become play if it is entered into in the play spirit.

Every father and teacher should understand the fundamental principles concerning play, since plays and games differ with seasons, sex, and age. The father becomes a child again by getting upon his hands and knees and romping with his children.

Eventually the inclination of the boy's play life extends beyond the family circle and enters the first social group composed of playmates. It is at this period of life that play should be well supervised or directed. Every "gang" must have a leader, and usually his command is absolute, be it good or bad. The gang left to itself will play, but it often degenerates into the vicious practices of the street. Out of school, the father of the boy would do well to join the gang and so became a pal of his own boy and a real help to others.

A game, however, to amount to anything, should have moral rocks and storms in order that the mariner (the player) may develop skill in handling himself when the storms of temptation and evil present themselves. The most simple play or game misdirected is dangerous and the only way to solve the problems of physical and moral pedagogy is to temper rightly the spirit of fair play.

Work Done By Welfare Chest Is Told By Girl

By BARBARA WIRTH
Pacific Avenue, B-6.

The Community Welfare Chest is a donation by the people of Glendale and Los Angeles. The money is received by certain hospitals, poor people, and certain organizations. Some of the organizations are the American Legion, the American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Crippled Children's Guild, Los Angeles Orphan Asylum, Hollywood Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Post War Service league of Hollywood and many others.

In deciding how much we should give to the Community Welfare Chest we should think how much ten dollars or more would help a poor family with many children who had not had food for days and were freezing for want of heat and warm clothing. We should also think how much it would help the organizations that needed more money to do the good things which they wish to do. The money for the Girl Scouts is used to buy the scout magazine, honor badges, pins, and camp equipment. The Salvation Army will buy things for the poor and take them Christmas boxes.

Magnolia School, B-5.

We read or hear of many automobile accidents every day. Some times we see them, or perhaps we are even in them. We never realize what a terrible thing an accident is until we are in one or some of our friends are in it. In an accident the machine is often wrecked. If we succeed in repairing the automobile, it takes a great deal of money. If we are injured or crippled for life, then we understand what a horrible thing an accident can be. If we are killed sorrow and grief hang a veil over our home.

Now I will tell you how a boy can help prevent accidents. He can help the younger children across a busy street. Besides he can tell other children not to cross the street with a coaster or other kind of vehicle if there is an approaching car. Now to cross a street in safety you have to look first to the left and then to the right. Hanging on passing trucks is one of the most dangerous things to do. What is the use of having so many safety rules if we don't follow them?

Reckless Driving Case Is Narrated By Pupil

By GORDON M'DONALD
Wilson Intermediate, B-7

Jack Holland was a very reckless young man of 18 years. Rising early one fine morning, he ordered James to bring his Cadillac racer around in front of his house. He put on a heavy wool coat, his racing helmet and goggles. Running down the steps he jumped into the car, stepped on the gas and was off. Jack was driving at a reasonable speed until he reached the open highway where he attained a speed of forty, forty-five, then fifty miles an hour.

There was a hill in the distance, at the foot of which two black streaks crossed. On approaching it he raced along until, when within a few feet of the track, a passenger train came out from behind the hill. He jerked back on the emergency brake, but he was going too fast to stop. With a crash the racer hit the train. Jack was carried to the hospital where, through expert care, he recovered. His motto will always be "Safety First."

Healthy Mind, Body Is Described Ideal Life

By MARY JO PHILLIPS
Glendale High

What does life mean today? What would life mean any day without health? Life means everything, but life without good health means only a long, colorless, adventureless existence with little appeal for most folks. A healthy mind and body, backed by a joyous spirit of love and freedom shows the way to length, and breadth, and depth of life. Physical education, in the true sense of the word, develops all-around health of these three fundamental requisites of strong, forceful character, by strengthening the body, rousing the mind, and creating the spirit of sportsmanship and fairplay.

Sufficient physical exercise is one of the most neglected necessities of life. Among women and girls especially, its claims have been, hitherto, practically unknown. With pitifully inadequate ideas on the subject, mankind has permitted the culture of the body to lag behind the culture of the personality, ignoring the fact that only through the body can the personality express itself. Today this false conception, with regard to physical education and its influence upon character construction, has changed to a large extent. People are realizing more and more that physical education is an absolute necessity in life today that the tomorrows of this world may be insured.

Education In Health And What It May Mean

By ANONYMOUS

I entered the dark, ill-smelling room. A drunken man was in one corner, a sobbing boy in the other. Upon a rickety, wooden bed was the wasted form of a dying woman. "Can't you save her?" the boy pleaded tremulously. "Oh, it's unfair—cruel!" I crossed the room and placed my hand on the poor woman's forehead. Her glazed eyes stared unseeingly at the rat-infested ceiling. Her body shuddered and was still. "I'm afraid," I said sadly, "I'm too late."

The man in the corner took an other drink. The boy swallowed a strange, white pill. Beyond the doorway I could see a group of sickly looking children. They were gazing round-eyed at me. The lad brushed a tear from his pallid cheek. "We never knew," he choked childishly, "no one ever told us about health or health education. We knew foul air bred disease, but we never thought this would happen." He glanced toward the bed. "I never thought two drinks would make Dad a drunkard, or that two doses would make me a drug addict."

"We never knew, no one ever told us," that is what social workers hear every day. We are all molded from the same clay; we all may die from the same disease; nevertheless, if we educate ourselves on how to be healthy, we shall not be so susceptible to disease. How would you like to be the dying mother, the drunken father, the drug addicted boy? How would you like your sons or your daughters to become one of them? Visit the schools, advocate health education; realize, while you still can, what it may mean to you.

Miss Education Visits 2 Small Country Girls

By ELSIE CHANCE
Wilson Intermediate, B-8

There once lived two little girls in a far off country. When they were about six years old a very helpful lady named Education came to stay with them for a long, long time.

One girl, Mary, was happy because Education came. She started to study hard. The other sister, Dorothy, would have nothing to do with their guest. Mary went with Education to school and was very happy, but Dorothy was discontented, did not study, and went around with Misery. Mary's mother saw her daughter taking an interest in her work and said, "I will send her to college where she will be happy." She grew up to be a bright, wise, happy and rich woman. She is still living with Education.

Dorothy, not taking an interest in her work, is still unhappy and discontented. She is grown up, too, now, but instead of having Education to help her, she has only Misery.

PLAYERS TO GIVE 'MAMMA'S AFFAIR'

Dobinson Stock Will Offer Harvard Prize Play On Next Bill

The Dobinson Players have a sure-fire hit in the clean comedy, "Adam and Eva," which is the attraction this week at the Club Playhouse, with William H. Stephens and Mary Isabelle Alpaugh in the title roles. Both of these capable players are exceptionally good in their characterization.

George C. Pearce in the role of James King, more successful as a business man than a father, gives a finished piece of character work. Mr. Pearce also directs the company, and is well known for his artistry. Richard Ehlers, juvenile of the company, portrays Clinton De Witt, the young son-in-law of Mr. King, whose chief asset is his ability to wear clothes well and keep up with sporting events. Gertrude Rothe as Julie, is as sweet as a honey bee, and her costumes are a delight to the eye. Arthur Lovejoy as Lord Andrew Gordon, has made one of the biggest hits of the show.

'Mamma's Affair' Next

Carroll Nye as Uncle Horace, who came to spend a week-end and stayed fifteen years, gives a perfect interpretation, and keeps within his character at all times. Thyra Ruhland, who is well known for her work with the Pilgrimage Play, is splendid in the part of Corinthia, the maid, who helps Adam brush up on his etiquette. Aunt Abby Rooker is delightfully presented by Rosamonde Joyzelle. Miss Joyzelle is well known for her work with both the Mission Play and the Pilgrimage Play. Eldon Bullis as Dr. Delamater is equally good. A delightful musical program is presented by the Glendale trio under the direction of Gladys H. Lott.

"Mamma's Affair," a Harvard prize play, featuring Gertrude Kellar, will be the next attraction.

Then why not worry about the money you are losing if you are getting less than 8% interest on your investments? You wouldn't work for $5.00 per day if you could get $10.00 per day, would you? And you surely don't expect your dollars to work for less than they can earn with safety. ## Harland Bartholomew Gives Address on Planning for City's Future

How other cities are planning for the future was the subject of an informative address yesterday afternoon at the Harvard High school auditorium by Harland Bartholomew, member of the consulting board of the Los Angeles City and County Planning commission.

"We raise a lot of questions on this subject," said Chairman T. W. Watson of the Glendale City Planning commission, in introducing the speaker, "but the answers are not always so easy."

Mr. Bartholomew spoke under the auspices of the local commission, addressing members of the Glendale City Council, Chamber of Commerce directors and members of various civic organizations.

Civic Problems

There are now 250 American cities with planning commissions, he told his audience. Traffic is only one of the problems these bodies have to consider, he declared.

"City planning consists of six things," said Mr. Bartholomew—"street planning, transit planning, railroad planning, recreation planning, zoning and city appearance. In short, it is the physical aspects of a city with which we have primarily to deal.

"Economic, social and aesthetic phases of the problem must be considered, each in its proper proportion. Naturally, street planning is generally pre-eminent in the deliberations of a planning commission. Where traffic goes, values go. Streets must be designed with an idea of flow—volume, origin and destination—a system, a structure to permit distribution.

Correct Conditions

"The larger a city grows, the more expensive becomes city planning. There is no time like the present to plan for the future. In Glendale, your most important traffic problem seems to be that four main north and south arteries converge in the south end of your city, and diverge again into three arteries leading to Los Angeles. This situation is bound to create congestion and must be corrected, by widening the existing arteries and building others.

"You have a problem, too, in Verdugo road. It will be necessary to study the flow of traffic there and estimate the probable increase, over a period not of five or ten years but of fifty years. It is necessary to look ahead fifty years, in city planning."

Mr. Bartholomew then gave examples of St. Louis, Minneapolis and other cities where he has developed city plans. In the latter city there is a neighborhood park for every square mile of territory, and, in addition, four large parks. St. Louis was obliged to vote a bond issue of $87,000,000 in 1923, for municipal improvements, of which $26,000,000 went for the purchase of park sites that could have been purchased for $5,000,000 fifteen years before, had a proper city plan been adopted then.

Answers Questions

At the conclusion of his remarks the meeting was open for discussion and Mr. Bartholomew answered questions on many phases of city planning. Some of the more significant questions and answers follow:

"Where would you recommend, in general, that a civic center be located?" "The general rule is that a civic center should be located handy to the downtown business center, but not near enough to retard its development."

"How large should a neighborhood park be?" "From ten to twenty acres."

"How important are parks?" "The importance of parks cannot be overestimated."

"Why don't we have more parks, not only in Glendale but in other Pacific coast cities?" "The sentiment in favor of parks has not solidified in your country. It will come later—and then it will be difficult, if not impossible, to get the parks."

Mrs. Harding Is Dead, Following Long Illness

patched by George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to President Harding, and Dr. Carl W. Sawyer signed the death certificate as follows:

"Cause of death, chronic nephritis, contributor chronic myocarditis and hydro-nephrosis."

Expresses Appreciation

Mrs. Harding had grown slowly worse almost from hour to hour for the last week. Practically the last evidence of consciousness was the whispered expression of her appreciation for the telegram of hope and good wishes from President and Mrs. Coolidge, which was read to her yesterday morning. She had been in a semi-comatose state during most of Wednesday afternoon and night, and with a half smile, after signifying that she understood the White House message, Mrs. Harding lapsed into a condition of almost complete coma.

Dr. Carl W. Sawyer, her physician, in making the announcement, said that chronic nephritis and myocarditis with evidence of hydro-nephrosis, were the cause of death.

Remains at Bedside

Even before the public was given an intimation that Mrs. Harding's condition was disturbing her friends, Dr. Sawyer suggested to Mrs. Frank J. Longshore of Marion, Mrs. Harding's niece, that serious developments might be expected, and, as a result of this warning, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Christian abandoned their plans for a trip to the west coast. Christian, Mrs. Longshore and Mrs. Roscoe Mezger, her daughter-in-law, and Clifford B. Kling, her brother, who was called back from Florida early in the illness, and Dr. George T. Harding, the late president's father, and Miss Abigail, the late president's sister, have been with Mrs. Harding almost constantly.

Mrs. Harding's last public appearance in Marion, except for almost daily visits to the tomb of the late president, was on October 16, when she attended the concert of the United States Marine band at Garfield park where the notification ceremonies were held. On the occasion of the visit of the musicians to Marion, advance statements were made by the Kiwanis club for a funeral dirge at the Harding tomb. This was played early in the afternoon and Mrs. Harding also attended the afternoon concert.

Husband's Death Shock

The first news that Mrs. Harding's condition might be alarming was given out by Dr. Sawyer when he announced on October 30 that she was compelled to deny herself to all visitors. It was then learned that she had been confined to her bed for several days and that her condition even at that time was most discouraging to those who were intimately acquainted with her.

Since the death of President Harding at San Francisco on August 2, last year, Mrs. Harding had never been regarded as quite recovered from the shock and the terrible strain of crossing the continent on the funeral train with the endless grief-ridden formalities that followed. While she preferred to be in Marion with her home friends and relatives, she was surrounded here by sympathetic friends and depressing memories. General Sawyer was compelled to move to Marion to attend his own affairs and continue his work as secretary of the Harding Memorial association.

Receives Another Shock

Mrs. Harding remained in Washington for several weeks until, on July 15, she suffered an attack of nausea and immediately sent for her physician. General Sawyer had attended Mrs. Harding over a period of eighteen years and her confidence in him, who so thoroughly understood the history of her several serious attacks of kidney trouble, brought about the decision that she made to return to Marion to remain in constant touch with the general.

When General Sawyer died suddenly September 23 of an acute heart attack almost in the presence of Mrs. Harding, she suffered a renewed shock which her condition was scarcely capable of counteracting. Moreover, she had been extremely depressed from time to time by the reports of the deaths of a numbe of friends and government officials closest to the Hardings during their occupancy of the White House.

Mrs. Hubert Work, wife of the secretary of interior, who accompanied the Hardings on the Alaskan trip on which one of the newspapermen was killed in an automobile accident and from which the president was brought back on the funeral train, was also the victim of a motor accident that resulted in her sudden death. The illness of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture in the Harding cabinet, was most distressing to Mrs. Harding, and when she read in the newspapers of his death on October 25, she went to bed almost immediately and never left it alive.

Rushes to Bedside

George B. Christian, Jr., President Harding's private secretary, who is now associated with Rodman Wanamaker in Washington, Philadelphia and New York, rushed to Mrs. Harding's bedside when he read the announcement of her illness on October 30. Up to that time even the closer friends of the widow had not been informed that her condition was approaching the serious stage.

Christian has spent some time each day with Mrs. Harding and has attended to all of her requests. Her first remark on seeing Christian was:

"I am glad you are here, George. I want you to take care of all this mail and see that every letter is acknowledged, and thank them for their kind interest."

The first news of her illness brought letters and telegrams to Mrs. Harding from all over the country and the number increased daily until the task of acknowledging them became next to impossible. Other instructions were given to Christian and when Mrs. Harding's vitality was so exhausted that she preferred not to be disturbed by talking, practically every wish had been carried out. It seemed to those nearest to her that she had completed all her arrangements. She made a new will, directed this or that message to be given to friends and lay, apparently in perfect comfort, awaiting the end.

Peaceable Settlement Hinted In Owens Row

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—Definite steps toward the peaceable settlement of the water controversy between Owens valley residents and the city of Los Angeles were under way today, following return to their homes of the "valley avengers." Representatives of the Los Angeles public service commission were on their way to San Francisco to confer with valley residents and Governor Friend W. Richardson at a meeting to be held tomorrow.

The water department's suit for damages against the members of the Owens valley "mob," which seized the aqueduct, will be vigorously prosecuted, it was declared by officials of the public service commission. The loss of the wasted water was valued at $60,000 or more.

How often, Dear Housewife, do you hear a word of commendation during the course of a meal on your good judgment of selecting that wonderful juicy roast, or that fine flavored tender steak? Does it come often; or does it happen that possibly you did not receive the best and it is tough with scarcely any flavor? If you would add zest to your meals, we urge you to patronize our market in the Piggly Wiggly Store and receive some of our Choice No. 1 Steer Meats properly aged, and selected for our patrons. They cost only a little more than the common stuff which is being exploited so strongly on a price basis in many markets at the present time. Try us this week! You'll wonder why you waited so long.

KIWANIANS VOTE TO CHANGE RULES

Officers To Be Chosen From Board Of Directors At Annual Meeting

Members of the Kiwanis club today voted to make certain changes in the by-laws of the club regarding the election of directors and officers.

Under the new system twelve directors will be elected at the annual meeting next month, and the officers of the club nominated from the floor and voted upon by the club immediately after the directors are chosen.

Six of the twelve directors getting the highest number of votes hold office for two years and the other six hold office for one year. Six directors will be elected for two years after next year.

Present System

Under the present system seven directors are elected, three officers are chosen, the secretary is appointed and the past president as district trustee constitute the board.

The motion to recommend the change was made by W. L. Truitt. Several suggestions were made by A. L. Ferguson. A motion by Frank Echols to postpone the election of officers one week after directors are chosen was defeated.

The nominating committee named today by Mr. Ferguson is: Bert Woodard, chairman; Rev. C. A. Cole, Guy H. Gibbs, David Gregg and S. C. Singer.

William Bode spoke on the showing of the Hallo-Kiwanis film at the T. D. & L. theatre next week. The club will attend in a body next Friday night, and President A. L. Baird will invite other clubs to join the Kiwanis members that night.

Announce Concert

The attendance prize, donated by Fred B. Walton, was won by Thomas T. Totman. Secretary D. H. Webb read an announcement of a concert at the Trinity auditorium on November 25, sponsored by the Los Angeles club. Jules Brazil will be the principal artist.

The value of education to all youths was told to members of the club by Frederick Dundas of Glendale Intermediate school. He explained the stamp system of teaching thrift followed in the schools. He sounded a warning on credit systems.

A. L. Ferguson spoke on the zone meeting to be held Monday night in Hollywood. Presidents of clubs in the zone will be the speakers, he said. W. L. Truitt outlined the open forum meeting to be held Monday night under the auspices of the Glendale Realty board.

Normal C. Hayhurst told of the three football games in which Glendale would participate, and explained the playoff schedule for the Southern California title. C. W. Ingledue thanked the club for the expressions of sympathy and condolence in the loss of his brother.

The monthly business meeting will be held next week, President Bair announced, when a report will be given on the Santa Barbara convention.

Marked Spurt In Steel Production Is Noticed

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21—There has been a marked spurt in steel production in this district and implicit confidence in the future of the market is now expressed by steel mill executives. In view of the advancing inventory time, consumer buying has been extraordinary, but there seems to be a realization that the price trend is upward and the sweep of purchases is widening.

Experts believe that there will be less of an up and down move in the coming year than for some time, but the total business is not expected to be much beyond the average. The outlook is for higher prices in the next few months, although the level probably will be below the average of the last two years.

Valley is now quotable at $20 to $20.50 per ton for Bessemer, $19 to $19.50 for basic, and $19.50 to $20 for foundry.

Astronomic Student Speaks At Luncheon; Committee Will Aid In Drive

C. H. He gave a lecture on the relative size using a number of charts. The luncheon was held at the Masonic hall, Dr. H. R. Boyer, president, presiding.

Upon a request presented by L. E. Olson, secretary, the Optimists rallied to the support of the Community Chest. A committee of eleven was appointed to help with chest solicitations early next week. Peter Hanson, C. H. Arbenz, H. F. Foell, L. E. Olson, H. L. Coleman, W. R. Newport, Dick Michel, L. W. Russell, O. E. McDowell and P. E. Webb, form this committee.

Elbert Beach of Wilson Intermediate school spoke on American Education week. He told of the observance at the Wilson school and invited the Optimists to visit the classrooms.

Urge More Interest

President Boyer and Councilman S. S. Gilhuly spoke briefly on the schools urging greater interest in school work.

A letter from Mrs. Matteson B. Jones, president of the Glendale Music club, was read inviting the Optimists to the presentation of "The Messiah" at the Broadway High school December 16. The Optimists endorsed the movement. Charles E. McDaniels, automobile dealer was voted to membership in the club.

The Wrath To Come

By E. PHILLIPS OPPENHEIM, Copyright 1924

CHAPTER XXV

"Come and sit with us," Gertrude invited shortly.

"Not on any account," was the firm refusal. "I am already a troisieme here. When I leave it will not be to accept a similar place elsewhere. Go and choose your table, you two. I am hurt, but not offended. I will even come and pay my respects later on. But at present, when my friends here have returned, I have an unconquerable desire to introduce myself to the young person with vermilion hair."

"What shall you say to her?" Gertrude asked.

"I shall say," he confided, "Mademoiselle, I have these few recommendations to your favor. I am an American, as you see me, a millionaire, with a yacht in the harbor and a cheque book which I too seldom use. May I have the pleasure of this dance?"

"It sounds interesting," Gertrude admitted. "She will probably refuse you. She will think you have drunk too much wine. Such good fortune would be incredible."

He rose to his feet.

"That remains to be seen," he said, taking leave of them with a little bow.

They watched him approach the girl whom he had pointed out, watched her rise with alacrity to her feet, and the commencement of the dance. Gertrude bit her lip as she followed Lymane to a table.

"Monte Carlo," she observed coldly, "is too small a place for these enterprises."

"Life is too short an affair to take notice of them," Lymane rejoined.

They chose their table, ordered wine and danced. Lymane murmured all the time in his companion's ear. Gertrude sometimes listened, sometimes watched the danseuse with the red hair. She seemed to be interested in Itash, but her eyes seldom left Grant and his partner.

"I wonder whether it is my fancy," she confided to her escort, as they sat down presently, "but it seems to me—I suppose it is because of this Nice Conference going on so near—that there is an electrical atmosphere everywhere. I feel as though there were rumblings underneath the earth, as though we were on the brink, all the time, of portentous events."

"He smiled indulgently, yet in a slightly superior fashion.

"I don't think you need be afraid," he said. "I think I can assure you that there are no cataclysms imminent at the moment."

"How can you tell?" she asked.

"Well," he pointed out, "for one thing, England, France, Germany, Japan, Italy, Spain, and a few of the smaller powers are linked hand in hand to preserve the peace of the world. There is no sign of war, no threat of war anywhere. They are all a little jealous of Germany, but industrially she deserves her success. Now, tell me, what form of cataclysm could descend upon the earth to justify your depression?"

"I think," she sighed, sipping her champagne, "that I am afraid of the end of the world."

"The end of the world," he observed, "is but a picturesque fable. The scientists have the matter well in hand. We are likely to have at least a thousand years of warning. My own apprehensions do not extend thus far."

She looked through the menu, which a hovering waiter had handed to her.

"Notwithstanding our wonderful dinner," she decided, "I should like a sandwich. And as it is not the end of the world which is coming and I honestly don't believe I have indigestion, will you tell me why I am so depressed?"

"I can only suggest," he ventured politely, "that it is because of your husband's arrival tomorrow."

"That," she declared, "is a crude remark, the sort of speech which betrays your youth. A man of the world, like Grant Slattery for instance, would never have made it."

"He would probably have hinted at it," was the somewhat sullen rejoinder, "and it would probably have been the truth."

"Well, I don't know," she murmured. "At any rate I am not going to discuss my husband's coming with you. I prefer a little consolation for these vague fears of mine. Do you honestly mean to tell me," she went on, "that the peace of the world is so wonderfully assured. Take these meetings of the Pact, for instance. Is there nothing there which gives cause for a moment's anxiety?"

"Princess!" he expostulated. "You will remember!"

THE GATEWAY

Buster Keaton has gone down to the sea in ships.

Yup, he's way out in the briny open spaces where ships are ships and water is wet.

His latest Metro-Goldwyn feature comedy is called "The Navigator," and it is playing at the Gateway theatre today and tomorrow. To make it Buster hired an ocean liner and sailed to Catalina Island, where most of the scenes were made at anchor.

The star had the liveliest time in his life doing "The Navigator," and from advance reports, the picture is the liveliest of his career.

They put a sailor's suit on Buster, and when he wasn't swabbing decks, he was shoveling coal, tons of it, into the ship's many furnaces with their cavernous maws, as the latter are called in shipping circles.

Buster's ship is the "Buford," a 450-foot liner, and one of Buster's jobs was scraping 450 feet of barnacles off the "Buford's" hull. For this job Buster wore a diving suit and was trailed by a submarine which helped him fight off octopi, sharks and enraged swordfish.

Buster chartered the "Buford" for two months. And with life nets spread at the level of the royal yardarms he spent many pleasant days adjusting sky sails on the fore, main and mizzenmasts. To say nothing of the other stunts he thought up for the new picture.

It is reported Keaton went to great personal risk for some of the scenes, so that audiences might have a real thrill. One thing is sure, future applicants for the job of deep-sea diving will decrease very much, for anyone seeing Buster don a suit and go down in "The Navigator" is likely to feel rather timid about trying it himself.

DOBINSON PLAYERS

The domestic touch which enlivens the comedy of "Adam and Eva" now being presented by the Dobinson Players at the Club Playhouse, is immensely enjoyed by the audiences. It tells the story of a business man whose family is constantly demanding money, and in order to feel free to spend, tries to send him on a holiday on the grounds that he is threatened with illness. He accidentally learns of the plan, and places his business manager in the position of father while he goes on a long trip, and the amusing situations entailed by this arrangement are numerous.

The Dobinson Players are doing splendid work, and are receiving recognition from the public, both by letters and word. In the cast are George C. Pearce, William H. Stephens, Mary Isabelle Alpaugh, Richard Ehlers, Arthur Lovejoy, Rosamonde Joyzelle, Thyra Ruhland, Gertrude Rothe and Eldon Bullis.

THE GLENDALE

Hoot Gibson in "The Sawdust Trail" opens today at the Glendale Theatre.

THE T. D. & L.

"Three Women" opens today at the T. D. & L. theatre, featuring May McAvoy, Pauline Frederick and Marie Prevost.

Uncle Wiggily

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND JOHNNIE'S JUMPER

Johnnie Bushytail was a little squirrel boy, who lived in the hole of a tree, not far from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow. Johnnie went to school to the Lady Mouse Teacher, and though Johnnie was very good, on most days, sometimes he was bad.

I am going to tell you of one of the times when he was bad.

Johnnie, with Billie, his squirrel brother, were going to school one morning, when the gray clouds in the sky were just ready to rain snow, and Billie noticed something in Johnnie's coat pocket.

"What's that?" chatted Billie. "Is it something good to eat you have in your pocket?"

"No, it isn't good to eat," answered Johnnie. "It's a jumper."

"What's a jumper?" Billie wanted to know.

"I'll show you," offered Johnnie.

From his pocket he took two stiffly folded pieces of paper, about two inches long and a quarter of an inch wide. The papers were folded in the shape of the letter V and between them was a twisted rubber band, or elastic. Johnnie held one paper still and turned and turned the other. Then he put the whole thing down on the ground.

Instantly the thing began to jump around and to leap up and down, like a grasshopper in summer.

"Hi! What makes it do that?" chattered Billie.

"It's my jumper," laughed laughed Johnnie. "The rubber band makes the folded papers, that are twisted in it, jump like anything."

"Say, a jumper is funny," laughed Billie. "But there goes the last bell and we'll be late for school if we don't run, and that won't be so funny."

So the little squirrels hopped on to the Hollow Stump School, and when they got there—no the cupboard wasn't bare, for it had blackboard erasers and chalk in it, the cupboard did. But Uncle Wiggily was there in the school.

"Uncle Wiggily has come to pay us a little visit," said the Lady Mouse Teacher. "Now see how clever you can be, children."

Now this was one of Johnnie's bad days, so, instead of being clever and good, he took that rubber and paper jumper out of his pocket. He twisted it and put it on his desk. Up and down jiggled the funny jumper.

"Oh, Ho! Ho! Ho!" laughed Billie Wagtail the goat. "That's jolly."

The Lady Mouse Teacher looked down the aisle.

"What have you there, Johnnie?" she squeaked.

"It—now—it's my jumper," stammered Johnnie.

"Bring it up to my desk, please," said the Lady Mouse sadly. And while Johnnie was shuffling his way up the aisle, into the school bounded the bad Bob Cat.

"Skit! Skat! I want ears to nibble!" howled the Bob Cat.

Johnnie was so frightened that he dropped his rubber and paper jumper. It was still wound up and twisted and it began to leap. Flip flop it jumped up and hit the Bob Cat on his nose.

"Oh, gurra! Gurra!" he howled. "What's that? Oh, don't bite me! I'll be good! I won't nibble Uncle Wiggily," and as Johnnie's jumper bounded up at him again, out of the window leaped the bad chap.

"Johnnie, you are a good squirrel, even if you did play with your jumper in school," said the lady Mouse. "So I won't keep you in. But let me keep the jumper until after school." So Johnnie did.

And if the firecracker doesn't try to blow up the peanut full of air so it looks like a football playing tag with a lollypop, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's booster.

COMMENT by GIL A. COWAN

You are being given the opportunity this week to subscribe to Glendale's Community Chest.

Teams are making a concerted effort to close the campaign by tomorrow night. Have you given?

It is economy to have the various drives covered in one, to have the charitable organizations budget their needs and live within that quota, to have the entire community recognize the social obligation.

It has been well stated that social service work must be democratic—without compulsion and without dodging. It is an issue which must be met, as taxes, death and everything else that comes in life.

You may have your own philanthropies, you may have good excuse for not giving, your conscience is your guide.

Every person who succeeds in life well knows that it is his or her duty to faithfully stand by those not so fortunate, particularly the cripples, the destitute, the sick, not to forget the need for subscribing to those things which make this a better word in which to live.

Neither sympathy nor sarcasm will cause you to open your purses half so readily as common sense. Consider the Community Chest as the most sensible method sweet charity has yet adopted for meeting its needs.

Members of the legislature are going to profit this coming term, perhaps, by the raise in pay voted them by the California electorate. More than $110,000 additional is needed to cover the expenses of the session, according to Ray Riley, state controller.

And yet that is not all the legislators will get. By the same act they reduced the amount each house—the senate and assembly—is permitted to spend for attaches from $500 to $300 a day, they have their contingent fund and travelling expenses reduced.

Economy continues to be the watchword at the capital.

SUNLAND NOTES

SUNLAND, Nov. 21.—The Sunland Chamber of Commerce will hold the annual community entertainment tonight at the Twin Pines hall, Michigan avenue and Sherman avenue. The program includes a dinner, comedy and novelty acts, guessing contests, vocal and instrumental solos, solo dances and vaudeville acts. Good music will be furnished for dancing after the entertainment. Both amateur and professional talent will present the numbers.

The last meeting of the Monte Vista Parent-Teacher association was entertained by pupils of Mrs. Knight's room. Plans were made for a Christmas tree for the community, to be held December 16. A program of music and other entertainment will be arranged. The association has decided to discontinue the serving of hot lunches at noon to the pupils on account of insufficient patronage.

The last of a series of revival meetings will be held tonight at the Sunland Baptist church. Rev. W. E. Smith is pastor. Rev. Bodenhousen has been assisting in the services.

The Sunland ripe olive cannery began the season pack of olives this week. A new grader is expected within a month.

H. Bostrom, for ten years a resident of Sunland, has purchased the grocery store formerly owned by C. A. Wertz.

The ranch belonging to William Blumfield, located between Hill and North streets, has been listed for sale with the Tujunga Valley Realty board brokers. There are twenty acres in the property, which will be subdivided and sold as residence lots.

Mrs. H. E. Morales has moved to Sunland recently.

Miss Catherine Crews has been spending a few days in Los Angeles as the guest of Miss Dorothy James.

BURBANK NEWS

BURBANK, Nov. 21.—This city now has under improvement or scheduled for improvement the following twenty streets: Orchard drive, Parrish drive, Keystone street, Myers street, Lincoln street, Oak street, portions of Olive avenue, parts of Naomi street, Florence street, Catalina street, Niagara street, California street, Edgemont boulevard, Ontario street, Fairview street, Lima street, Avon street, Sherlock drive, Flower street, Ninth street between Magnolia and Verdugo avenues, Harvard road between Sixth street and Kenneth road, tract No. 8713 at the corner of Empire and Lincoln streets.

The recommendations of the Sunset Canyon Country club's building committee for a new clubhouse have been adopted and Waite & Stevens, a Burbank firm, has been ordered to proceed with detailed plans and specifications.

The preliminary drawings show a very attractive building in which the foundation built a few years ago will be utilized to advantage. Actual work on the new building will start as soon as the plans are complete and the formalities of calling for bids and the letting of the contract can be carried out.

MONTROSE NOTES

MONTROSE, Nov. 21.—Miss Marie Walsh presented her pupils in a recital program at her home last night. Children ranging in ages from five to twelve years took part, as follows: "Soap My Bed," Thomas Watson; "Kittens and Babies," Dorothy Johns;" "Castor Oil and Thanksgiving Day," Virginia Howard; "A Homesick Flower and Buying Xmas Presents," Shirley Wood; "She Powders Her Nose and Sings," Dorothy Watson; "When Ma Wants Something New," "Jennie Entertains Her Sister's Beau," Dorothy Jensen; "Little Pilgrim People" and "When the Children Go To Sleep," Annabelle Watson; "Wash Day and Secrets," Margaret Woods; "Chums" and "Miss Wiggins' Tea Party," Helen Potts; "At Grandpa's for Thanksgiving" and "The Saucy Pea," Helen Jensen; "Last but Not Least," Margaret Wood. This talented little group commenced to study with Miss Walsh the second week of October. Last night's recital marks the first of a series to be presented from time to time at the Walsh home on Montrose avenue off Ocean View. Miss Walsh is adding pupils to her new classes every week.

Funeral services for the late William Maynard of Hermosa avenue will be held at the White mortuary in Los Angeles, tomorrow. Mr. Maynard, who was a linesman for the Bureau of Power and Light, was electrocuted on Monday morning, falling thirty feet. The deceased is survived by a widow and son, Charles, aged four. Mrs. Maynard, who was ill at the time of her husband's death, is prostrated over her husband's tragic death. Mr. Maynard was an overseas veteran.

The M & M Sandwich shop has been taken over by Fred and Arthur Satchell, owners of the Bluebird cafe. The Sandwich shop will feature Spanish dishes.

TUJUNGA NOTES

TUJUNGA, Nov. 21.—Men employed by the Southern California Gas company Wednesday morning began installing gas meters in residences in Tujunga. Gas was turned into the new mains Monday and for the first time Tujunga had this fuel available. Kerosene stoves, which formerly provided practically the only means of cooking and heating, are now held in the same esteem with which a rich man regards his poor relations.

Mains for service have been laid from Roscoe and come through Sunland along Michigan avenue, connecting on the east with mains serving Montrose and La Crescenta. Practically all the principal streets have been piped with smaller lines and house connections can be made in a few hours after notice by residents to install a meter. Completion of the system for serving Tujunga and Sunland will consume the sum of $250,000, according to estimates made by officials of the gas company before the work was started. This sum will probably be exceeded before all the pipes are laid in the main sections. Gas is now available to approximately 1800 families in territory previously not served. This number will be increased as the company expands the system to take in all the outlying districts adjacent to the main parts of the two towns and other new residential districts springing up in various parts of the Verdugo hills. More than forty miles of main pipe lines have already been laid since the company started the work about three months ago, including a line from Roscoe where the main line from the oil fields is tapped.

At this week's meeting of the Tujunga Valley Realty Board plans were made for the observation of Membership Week, December 12 to 17, which is in accord with the national movement fostered by realty boards in increasing their memberships. Appreciation of sympathy expressed by the Tujunga board on the death of Frank Wiggins, late secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, was read from a letter to the board from Mrs. Wiggins. December 29 has been chosen by the board as the date for a banquet, at which members and their ladies will be guests. It is planned to have speakers give short talks on subjects of general interest. Next Monday the members of the board will be the guests of Earl Chapman at a dinner in celebration of the first sale in Tujunga under the newly adopted multiple listing ystem. Plans for a "Better Appearance" week were also discussed, the object being to induce home owners to improve the appearance of their property.

C. W. Home, formerly of Hamilton & Home, has opened an automobile repair shop on Michigan avenue near Crescent street, in the old Day and Night garage building.

A new home in The Gem of Tujunga tract was recently sold to Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell.

An all-day work meeting of the Ladies' Aid of the Community church is being held today at the church.

Mrs. M. R. Lee has returned from a visit with friends in Los Angeles, Boston and New York, and will spend the winter in Tujunga.

Mrs. J. D. Murphy and Miss Doris McKinnen have left for their home in Tacoma after a brief stay in Tujunga.

Earl C. Brunner, jeweler, and the Tujunga Radio shop are now located in their new quarters in the new brick building on Sunset boulevard. A Christmas stock of goods has been received by both stores and the owners invite the public to come in for an inspection of their goods and listen to the air programs on radio sets built in Tujunga by William Hartranft, proprietor of the radio shop.

FROM EAGLE ROCK

EAGLE ROCK, Nov. 21.—This community has gone $1381.22 over the $2400 Community Chest quota allotted by general headquarters, the total amount raised here being $3781.22, announces H. G. Warren, who had charge of the drive.

"I desire to thank all who helped put this drive over," says Mr. Warren, "the fifty lieutenants, Mrs. J. C. Reiter, secretary of our Chamber of Commerce, all workers and givers who so splendidly co-operated in making Eagle Rock shoot clear over the top in five days in the Community Chest drive. The good cheer, the ready response and the pull all-together spirit of Eagle Rock made it all possible."

Among the workers it is important that Mrs. Grayce Pickett come in for special mention here. Mrs. Pickett, in a check made, was found to have brought in from her personal canvass of the district allotted to her one-tenth of the entire amount turned in. H. I. DeVol, under whom she served in the drive, has personally thanked her in the name of the Community Chest organization for her splendid work on his team.

Diet And Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

FEEDING THE SECOND YEAR

Last week we finished giving the tables of feeding from the sixth to the twelfth month. Today I am going to give directions for feeding for the second year, which I have taken from my book, "Diet for Children."

The second year has the reputation for being the most difficult and the most dangerous year for the child, and it usually is.

Do you know why this is so, mothers? I'll tell you. It is because the same scrupulous care is not given in the feeding and other health measures during the second year as the first. Babies are given foods they sholud not have and at all hours of the day. Their daily baths are usually discontinued. (And they really need them more rather than less.)

If the same care is given to the baby the second year—the same regularity of meals, and no foods given that he has not learned to digest by very gradual feeding, nothing allowed between meals but water and his fruit juice; and if his daily baths and other hygienic measures are kept up, there is no more danger in the second year than the first year. That will comfort you, I know.

Most of the foods necessary for the second year should be begun the first year. Now, of course, they can be taken in larger quantities. The baby can be taking from one-half to one cupful of vegetables daily, measured after cooking. It is best to strain them until the first molars are in (12 to 16 months). It is well to begin giving some of the tender fresh vegetables raw after the chewing teeth are in. Grind very fine, or scrape, at first. Some of the vegetables will appear in the stools undigested, but if there is no distress from them, there is no cause for discontinuing them.

You, mothers, must see that he masticates his food thoroughly by giving him small morsels at a time and showing him how. Sometimes during the second year he can begin to handle a spoon and feed himself, but he must be supervised to see that he does not take too much at a mouthful. If you, or some other adult, cannot be with him and there is an older child in the family, teach this child to guide him.

When he begins to handle his spoon teach him to hold it correctly; that is, with the thumb over the handle and fingers underneath, not grasped in the fist over the top of the handle. It will require much patience, and also very much perseverance to teach him this, but it can be done. (I know, for I have done it.) If he handles the spoon in this way, the food is not spilled all over him and he cannot pile it so high. Try grasping a spoon yourself as a baby does and see how difficult it is to get food to your mouth without spilling it. Give him a coffee spoon. He'll love that and he can not get very much on it.

Teach him to use a bit of his bread to push the food on the spoon, never the fingers, nor one of those pushers that are sold for the purpose. They are an abomination, and so are the spoons with the turned-over handles. Why teach him anything he has to unlearn? It is unnecessary and unwise.

(I use the pronoun "he" throughout, mothers. You know I mean "she" as well.)

Tomorrow I am going to infringe upon the other correspondents' day, and will give you mothers the feeding schedule from the twelfth to the fifteenth month because I want it to follow right after the general directions I have given you.

My Dear Followers:—When sending for material which we offer you please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible; if they are of general interest. Don't forget the s. a. s. e. if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Steamed Cranberry Pudding: Beat together two eggs, one cup of granulated sugar and a pinch of salt. Stir into this mixture three tablespoons of melted butter, one cup of sweet milk and one cup of cranberries. Add three cups of ground wholewheat bread crumbs and turn the pudding into buttered baking powder cans, filling the cans only three-quarters full to allow for rising. Put on tightly-fitting can covers, and sink each can up to its rim in boiling water in a large saucepan, weighting it down, if necessary, to keep it in an upright position. Let the water boil around the can for one and one-half hours, then serve hot with the following:

Lemon Sauce: One cup of granulated sugar mixed with one and one-fourth tablespoons of dry cornstarch powder; to this add one and one-fourth cups of boiling water very gradually, then put over the fire and let boil three or four minutes. Remove from the range, season with two tablespoons of lemon juice and one-third teaspoon of ground nutmeg, stir in one and one-half tablespoons of butter, and turn at once over the hot pudding (or pass with it). This sauce is also good for bread pudding, cottage pudding, grapenuts pudding and all kinds of fruit puddings.

Potted Steak: Buy two and one-half pounds of bottom round steak and have the butcher cut it up in pieces suitable for serving (like stew meat). Dip these pieces in flour, then brown them well in hot drippings, in the bottom of a generous-sized pot. When the meat is well seared, add to it six uncooked onions peeled and cut small, one cupful of diced raw turnips, two cupfuls of canned tomatoes, one teaspoon of salt and a pinch of pepper, and cover all with boiling water. Simmer three hours, or till the meat is very tender, adding a little more water if it all boils away. Serve very hot on a platter surrounded with what remains of the vegetables, and one can of hot peas.

Cocoanut Cookies: Cream together one cup of butter and two cups of granulated sugar and stir into this mixture two slightly beaten eggs, three teaspoons of baking powder, four tablespoons of sweet milk, one-half teaspoon of vanilla extract and five cups of ordinary bread flour. Mix well, then turn onto a floured board and roll thin. Cut with a doughnut cutter, place on a greased pan, dust tops with granulated sugar, then sprinkle with shredded cocoanut. Bake in a hot oven for eight minutes.

Chats On Beauty

By EDNA KENT FORBES

PREPARING FOR WINTER

This is one time of the year when you cannot use too much cold cream. The complexion not yet sufficiently toughened to resist the winter cold, yet the air is chilly—worse than chilly—for it is wet and raw. The complexion will chap and the outer layers of skin show ugly white lines where the face powder settles, unless it is well fed with creams.

Try this Fine Cold Cream, an old favorite of mine:

| | |
|---|---|
| Almond Oil | 4 ounces |
| Rose water | 4 ounces |
| Spermaceti | 1 ounce |
| White Wax | 1 ounce |
| Benzoin | 1 drachm |

This is not perfumed, except that it acquires a delicate fragrance from the rose water. Delicious opalescent stuff, rose water. Cold cream could be made with plain boiled water, but the rose water is so delicately fragrant and so refreshing to the skin, that it never pays to leave it out or use a substitute. It is also cheap. If you want a decided odor, add 15 drops of any perfumed oil, violet, rose geranium or oil of bitter almonds, which is pungent.

As to how this cream should be made: Melt your wax and the spermaceti in the oil (use olive oil if you like, instead of almond) and when they are just blended, add the rose water and benzoin these being lukewarm. Stir in the latter slowly, and stir and beat as the mixture cools; the longer it takes, the whiter and finer the cream. Remove from the heat as soon as you add the rose water. When the mixture has cooled to about the consistency of mayonnaise, pour off into jars. Use freely as a massage if you want a good skin this winter.

Anxious: Red eyelids and falling lashes would indicate some skin trouble that should be treated by your doctor. For the superfluous hair apply a mixture made from peroxide and ammonia in equal parts. This will bleach the hair so it may not be noticeable; it also sometimes weakens the growth so that it thins out.

Until you recover from the skin trouble it would be best not to use powder at all.

Mrs. W. Z.: You can increase your weight after the baby is born by drinking plenty of milk, or by taking cod liver oil. Yes, you can wear brassiere, which would make you feel more comfortable at this time.

Peggy Irene: If you shave or remove the hair with a depilatory it will come in coarser. The best way is to bleach it with peroxide and extract all the very conspicuous hairs by using a blunt-end tweezers, every time they appear above the surface of the skin.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. Expert testimony

Five of the best-known cooking authorities in the country conducted the tests—with ten different kinds of foods.

Each dish was cooked twice, from exactly the same recipe, except that plain milk was used in one batch and Borden's Evaporated in the other. The two samples of each dish were served to groups of men and women who knew nothing about the purpose of the test. Each person was asked whether he could tell the difference, or which he preferred. Here are a few of the results:

Soups: seven out of eight preferred the soup made with Borden's Evaporated.

Creamed Carrots: five out of seven favored Borden's.

Creamed Potatoes: everybody voted for the Borden dish.

Muffins and Creamed Chipped Beef: six out of ten preferred Borden's; three of the others couldn't tell the difference.

They proved beyond question that Borden's Evaporated Milk is exactly as good as plain milk for all cooking—while for many dishes it is better.

FLEAWEIGHTS FACE STIFF CONTEST HERE TUESDAY

Pasadena Is Bringing Strong Team to Tackle Class C Squad; Lightweights Journey to San Bernardino for Game Saturday

By ROSS M. RUSSELL, JR.
Of The Evening News Staff.

The Glendale-Pasadena tussle in the semi-finals of the Southern California Class C play-off should draw a good sized crowd when the two teams meet on the local field at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Anyone who saw the local tads whitewash the Covina fleaweights will remember the marvelous interference of the "firecrackers." All but one touchdown were made on end runs, none of which were less than sixty yards.

Long Beach fleaweights were scheduled to play Class C team here tomorrow, but Coach Wolfe received word at noon today from Long Beach that the athletic council there had found one of its players ineligible on account of age, and withdrew from the playoff. Pasadena, Whittier and Santa Ana were left tied for top place after the Long Beach games during the schedule were forfeited, and these three teams agreed Pasadena should represent the Coast league in the playoff against Glendale. On account of the findings of the Long Beach athletic council, the time of the game was changed from tomorrow afternoon to 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Much credit goes to Coach Wolfe for developing such an unbeatable team. Almost all of the boys who went out for Class C football had never played the game before.

The "Firecrackers" should beat Pasadena by a margin of one or two touchdowns anyway, perhaps more, if Mainland and Wykoff get away for prolonged end runs. If the "Firecrackers" win tomorrow's game and beat the Bay League winners in the Class C division, they will probably get a trip to San Francisco for the Class C championship of the state.

Lightweights Play

Another worthwhile battle will be waged Saturday at San Bernardino when the local 130-pounders meet the San Bernardino Class B outfit in the first round of the Southern California lightweight play-off.

As little is known of the San Bernardino eleven, nothing in the way of prediction can be made. The local eleven comprises a strong machine, both on defense and offense. Only seven first downs have been made on the locals by their opponents, furthermore, they have not been scored upon in any of their league games.

If the Glendale lightweights get by San Bernardino tomorrow afternoon their next game will be against Huntington Park, winner of the Class B title in the Bay league yesterday. Huntington Park defeated Venice 13 to 7 at Venice. In the playoff schedule the Bay league winner drew a bye for this week, but plays the winner of the Glendale-San Bernardino game next week.

Heavyweight Games

In the heavyweight playoff this week Pomona and El Centro clash at Pomona, and San Diego and Orange battle at Santa Ana, both games being scheduled for tomorrow. Paso Robles forfeited to Santa Maria, so the Santa Barbara County league winners will get a bye this week. Sweetwater, winners in the Southern league, also draws a bye. Compton and San Pedro will decide the winner of the Bay league tomorrow afternoon.

The members of the Class B team will be taken to San Bernardino in a large bus engaged by the school for the trip.

Caseys Open Winter Ball Season Sunday

The Glendale K. C. baseball team, under the management of Harry Manush, will play its first game of the winter season Sunday at the local ball park, with the ball team from the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, as opponents. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock. The regular K. C. league schedule will open in two weeks.

The probable lineup for the K. C. club will be: Fanset, 2b; Cryan, 3b; Myers, c; Clark, c; Cozington, lf; Manush, cf; R. Doll, rf; H. Doll, ss; M. Doll, 1b; Seiser, p, and Galliger, p.

Myers is a new addition to the club, playing last season with the Muskies of the Mink league, where he hit .320. Cozington, another new player, hit .328 while drawing down his pay with the Saginaw club of the Mink league. Manush played last season with Omaha, winners of the Western league pennant.

A fly trap that will attract the flies by electricity and then electrocute them has been patented.

SPORTDOM ALL OVER

By JOSEPH L. KELLEY
Of The Evening News Staff.

Dyed-in-the-wool sportsman hereabouts asks "how come" it never rains but it pours in these parts. First, he let go scandal incident to unknoting relations between Trojans, Bears and Cardinals when players were charged with proism. Now comes dancing party at Culver City wherein two gents agreed to show all their fancy steps and only executed one—the lay-down step. Dyed-in-wool sport has good squawk and it is hereby and herewith filed.

So long as footballs are kicked, fighters fight, world series get serious and sport is sported, so long will the unsporting-like gent lift his dirty head above the clean ones. Nothing can stop him but the annihilation of all humans from earth and new Noah's Ark set adrift. And then dirty heads will start peeking above clean ones all over again after flood has left feet dry.

Ever since puny little Dave hurled rocks at big stiff Goliath and the bullrushes keep sun out of Moses' eyes, sportdom has spent certain percentage of time laundrying dirty necks.

Go to race track and every nag but the best one wins. Jockey thinks nothing of turning mount around and running other way when odds get too far above bookie's capital.

Back in 1919 boys saw lot of dirty necks crammed over parts of Cincinnati and Windy City alloted to baseball. Boys tried harder to cross-word-puzzle one another than 'Shoeless Joe' Jackson tried to keep feet clean and get back pay.

Visit strangling emporium and you see a lot of bunched muscles shedding a lot of good healthy sweat seeing how near they can come to breaking a few legs and arms. Looks like real battle until receipts are counted then muscles decide return bout is necessary to make up difference. Can't settle which legs can withstand breaking longest without all-winter tussle.

'Strangler' Pete breaks couple of legs belonging to 'Masked Wonder' and M. W. retaliates with offer to make S. P. look like little pig sausage. Both come to terms and get public talking and take three hours of time that could be spent at a movie trying to keep contract. Good thing summer comes around regularly. Boys would be wrestling 8760 hours.

Flash—Tony Fuente is still champion of Mexico.

And so it goes. Just so long as boys insist upon thinking themselves better than the other fellow, and believing best married men make best husbands, indoor and outdoor sports will remain popular even if dirty necks do pop up now and then to haze the horizon.

Didn't take boys in stamping ground for congressmen long to settle Emma Goldman's trouble. Emma's squawk about wanting to see America first reached the Capitol and ten minutes later all business was called off to pass constitutional amendment favoring Emma's staying where she is.

Boys over in Pasadena don't seem to be able to get together on that New Year's grid battle. Probably waiting to see how many necks are busted Saturday up in Berkeley.

Tomorrow Night—She's Only A Bootlegger's Still.

At ages above 50 the mortality rate is much higher for men than for women.

Of the 600 shoe factories in France, only about 200 make more than 100 pair a day.

RINGSIDE GOSSIP by FAIR PLAY

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Out in Newark Luis Firpo professes to be undisturbed by the roasting he is getting in the Buenos Aires newspapers. From any indication he gives he is just as well content to be a fallen idol as an idol. The "calf of the Pampas," as they now call him in the Argentine, said to the writer today that he will spend the remainder of his stay in this country proving to Americans and South Americans that he is still a logical contender for Dempsey's crown.

Whether he shows this or not depends upon Tex Rickard. As long as Luis stuck to Tex he got along finely, but the minute he went off on his own hook he got in Dutch. Luis needs Tex. But just now it is not so certain that Tex needs Luis. Rickard knows it will take a lot of his best showmanship to overcome the bad showing Firpo made against Weinert. He may decide the effort involved is not worth the candle.

Rickard has pulled the Wild Bull out of more than one hole. He discounted Luis' rotten showing against Homer Smith and also "saved" him when Joe Downey, a poor scrapper, went the distance with him.

The fact that few readers will recall these bouts will show just how cleverly Firpo was steered by them.

Whether some one does a Brennan for Luis in order to rehabilitate him depends upon whether or not the promoters think he still has possibilities as a drawing card. He could go on the road and pick up good money, but in the main to eastern promoters good money is not what counts. It is the big million dollar bouts that count.

Firpo's most recent conquerer, by the way, has been offered a booking on a western vaudeville circuit.

TO-NIGHT'S CARD

Pat Lester, heavyweight who has titular aspirations, will meet Ralph Smith, elongated scrapper, in the main event of tonight's card at the Hollywood American Legion stadium. Tim McGrath and Spider Kelly will be in Pat's corner. Lester stopped Floyd Johnson several weeks ago at Hollywood. Ray Neuman and Fred Cullen meet in the semi-windup. Frankie Osner and Joe Sousa will mix in the special spot. Other bouts are: Hank Gatton and Jack Perry, Johnny Fugate and Young Burmay, Angelo Payo and Joe Avery, and Sailor Muratt and Young Danny.

JOHN B. FOSTER'S VIEWS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—One of the best things that is likely to come out of the purchase by George Weiss and Walter Johnson of the Oakland club of the Pacific coast league is the rooting out of the gambling pests who have haunted the Oakland grounds to the great annoyance of the baseball fans in that city.

The Oakland diamond really is in Emeryville and the Oakland police have no jurisdiction in the baseball park. Betting is declared by California experts to have been carried on openly during games and this past season has been no exception to the rule.

Oakland and Los Angeles have been the plague spots of the Pacific coast league, and the injection of new blood with the establishment of the new owners at Oakland should have an effect not only in that city but throughout the entire circuit where there have been rumors of gambling and "something doing" all season.

It is said that an investigation is under way now to try to fasten guilt on suspected players. If any collusion between gamblers and players can be proved the players will be dropped. They may not be expelled outright, but they will not be likely to get a chance to play in organized baseball next year.

Most of the troubles on the coast followed the trip of "Nick the Greek" from Chicago to that section.

There is a lot of enthusiasm in Oakland about Weiss and Johnson entering the city, because Cal Ewing, the retiring owner of the club, has paid more attention to baseball politics than to the building up of a winning team, and Oakland has been a trailer so long than the fans had almost given up the idea that it could ever be anything else. Oakland has been with the Wrigley faction as against San Francisco in coast baseball play. It is not likely that the owners will side with any faction as they have no axes to grind with other club owners.

Oakland has kept up a relationship with both Brooklyn and Pittsburgh in the National league, and while it has never been a farm for either, there have been several exchanges that have benefitted the major league clubs more than they did Oakland.

The team did better in 1924 than it has done in years, finishing fourth, and being in the pennant race part of the season. Still, if the amount alleged to have been paid for the franchise is correct, the new owners paid a round price for what they got.

The purchase of the Oakland club by easterners puts an end to any offers for Salt Lake by outsiders. That club will go on next year and will be financed by its present owner.

The sale of the Portland, Oregon, club to Turner and Shibe gives the Athletics a feeding ground on the Pacific coast. They have taken advantage of it at once by pulling Cochran, the Portland catcher, east. He batted .333 last year, which is a lot more than Perkins of the Athletics ever will bat. He made seven home runs. Behind the plate he fielded .959, with 278 put-outs, 49 assists and 14 errors.

BOXING NOTES

Dick Hoppe of Glendale knocked out Young Thompson in the first round of the main event last night at the Pasadena armory. Young Gongale was counted out in the second round. Joe Herman won over Sally Martinez and Billie Colen upset Young Larry.

Windy Winsor Talks About Another Bout

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—Fred (Windy) Winsor, manager of Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight of Los Angeles, today accepted an offer of $10,000 from R. I. Barton of Mexico City for a Fuente-Luis Firpo bout

CREAM FOR CATARRH OPENS UP NOSTRILS

Tells How To Get Quick Relief from Head-Colds. It's Splendid!

In one minute your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night, your cold or catarrh will be gone.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh—Relief comes so quickly. —Advertisement.

LAWRENCE PERRY SAYS

Special Correspondent of The Glendale Evening News, Copyright, 1924

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—If Harvard should succumb to Yale next Saturday it is not at all likely that Robert Fisher will remain at Cambridge as head coach. Fisher is a man of fine personality and is a competent football instructor.

Despite the fact that the material he has had to handle in recent years has not in any way compared with the sort of players that the Crimson found available in the Haughton regime, the deadly parallel between Fisher and Haughton elevens has been drawn with ever-increasing frequency.

The Crimson debacle seems to have brought dissatisfaction to a point and a sound beating by Yale will accentuate this state of mind, if that is possible.

Percy Wendell, who played at Harvard under Haughton and has been doing well at Williams, is the one name mentioned as successor to Fisher.

Roper says he will remain at Princeton if the athletic authorities invite him to stay. As it is foregone that such an invitation will be extended, no coaching change at Princeton may be expected.

The talk that Willaim Alexander will depart from Georgia Tech is idle. Alexander is working along the right road, with the assistance of Hanson, Illinois, as line coach, may be depended upon to keep the Yellow Jackets in the top flight of southern teams year after year. Alexander has the solid backing of the most influential men in Atlanta.

But at Wisconsin friends of Jack Ryan may have a fight on their hands to hold him. Ryan is a coach of real ability and with responsive material is qualified, the writer believes, to produce satisfactory results. It would be going far to say that this year's eleven has been responsive to its coach. Just why this is so the writer is unable to say, but it might be the part of wisdom for Wisconsin alumni to look beyond the coaching problem when the time comes to consider the ins and outs of the football situation.

Football coaching at Wisconsin has been a sore spot since 1914 Bill Juneau fizzled as a coach after John Richards retired in 1911. Juneau was forced out in 1915 and the following year Paul Withington came with a retinue of eastern all-Americans. He failed utterly.

Next year Richards, a Badger alumnus, was called back and for five years turned out elevens that came within aces of winning the conference championship, but never quite connected.

NEW YORK CLOSING

By W. S. COUSINS
For International News Service.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—Forward movement in prices of railroad and industrial stocks was interrupted today by the heavy offerings of stocks on profit taking and short selling operations. Declines of a point or more took place in many stocks which have been leaders in the advance since November 5. While these recessions were in progress new stocks were brought forward and, in an exceedingly heavy turnover, rushed up to new high price levels.

The simultaneous upward movement of the stocks and bonds of the New Haven and St. Paul systems was easily the feature of the speculative security markets. In the belief that St. Paul will weather the storm and make satisfactory provision for the refunding of its huge bond maturity in June, 1925, there was a heavy movement in both the preferred and common stocks of that company. The common sold up to 17¾, only fractionally below the highest price of the year to date, while the preferred, at 28½, showed an advance of 4¼ points from yesterday's low.

Rock Island rose 3 points, to a new high of 46¼, on heavy trading based on rumors that Southern Pacific and Rock Island managements would work out a plan of co-operation that would be mutually profitable. Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Katy and a few other rails showed the effects of profittaking, their early declines showing losses of 2 points on the average from yesterday's high; but good recoveries followed these reactions. Interest was well maintained in Kansas City Southern and other low-priced rails which featured yesterday's session.

United States Steel encountered heavy selling after reaching a new high for the year at 117, and was forced down to 116, where sales were very heavy. Allis Chalmers, with a gain of 2½, at 65½, was one of the most active of the popular investment industrials.

Reactionary movements characterized a number of the active industrial stocks in the late trading. Mack Truck sold down to 109¾, against the week's high at 114, on reports that no special distribution to stockholders would be made this year. American Woolen declined 2½ points, to 58⅝, on heavy trading in which short selling played a part.

American Can made little headway. Cast Iron Pipe and Radio lost about 3 points. Oils failed to attract any larger following, and sales in this department were generally at concessions in prices. Thus far the oils have participated very little in the post-election rise in stock prices. Motors held their early gains and investment rails were steady all the way through.

Stock sales today totaled 2,224,100 shares; bonds, $21,092,000.

Liquor Exporters Face Huge Loss to U. S.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 21.—Loss of $2,000,000 in connection with the seizure of the steamship Quadra at San Francisco with a cargo of booze will fall upon Vancouver liquor exporters and a bond company, if the United States court rules that the vessel was a rum-runner.

In addition to the value of the steamer and her 40,000 case cargo, the exporters stand to forfeit the $1,600,000 bond placed with the Vancouver customs authorities as a guarantee that the liquor would be landed in a specific Mexican port for which she cleared from this harbor.

Complying with the new Canadian law the exporters obtained a guarantee bond from one of the established companies, subject to government approval, for an amount equal to twice the value of the customs duty.
